Rebels Announce 'Complete Break' In Loyal Defense

Fall of Government Capital
Regarded as Matter of Hours by Insurgent Officers; in Sight of City

Officials Move

Loyalist Ministers Evacuate
Barcelona to Set Up New Capital

Lerida, Spain, Jan. 24 (AP)—Insurgent leaders declared today that their forces had achieved "a complete break" in government defenses directly before Barcelona and that the fall of the government capital was regarded as a matter of hours.

Insurgent officers insisted that the "entire line" of enemy defenses along the Llobregat and Cardener rivers, described as the last line on which the government had tried to organize strong resistance, was in the hands of Generalissimo Franco's troops this morning.

(At some points the Llobregat is only four miles from Barcelona's western suburbs.) Navarrese and Moorish troops carrying the red and gold banners of insurgent Spain were reported in sight of the city, into which Franco's big guns began hurling shells.

On the Llobregat front, dispatches said, thousands of big shells, tank attacks and air bombardments blasted government defenses from their entrenchments.

(Diplomatic dispatches reaching Paris said government ministers were leaving Barcelona to set up a new capital near the French frontier.)

Shoring northeast toward the seaport metropolis from the sea-side village of Garraf, the Navarrese and supporting Moorish units were said to have pierced Barcelona's last line of defenses along the Llobregat river protecting the capital on the west.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco's officers said the steamroller force of their attack crushed government fortifications "as if they were egg shells" and forced thousands of the defenders into headlong retreat into Barcelona.

The Navarrese swept forward four miles to attack the Llobregat river lines. Insurgent commanders said other attack forces further north broke through government lines in the Sierra de Montserrat, one of the most formidable natural barriers before Barcelona.

The mountain forces were said to be advancing upon a plain, directly toward Barcelona.

(Reports to Hendaye, France, had put the nearest insurgent units seven miles from Barcelona where they were said to have encircled the town of Gava, four miles from the Llobregat.)

At Burgos, the insurgent capital, Franco appointed a council of 21 men to take over the administration of Barcelona as soon as the insurgent troops entered. A noted economist, Miguel Mateu Y Pla, was named insurgent Mayor of Barcelona.

Selecting Jurors

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Selection of jurors for the second trial of James J. Hines, veteran Tammany politician, on charges of abetting the late Dutch Schultz's $20,000,000-a-year Harlem policy racket, continued slowly today in general sessions court. District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey and Lloyd Paul Stryker, chief of Hines' counsel, questioned each prospective juror carefully, bringing Judge Charles C. Norton to observe that apparently "a jury will not be selected in this case until the peremptory challenges are exhausted."

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—The position of the treasury January 21: Receipts, $7,937,011.25; expenditures, $24,736,742.79; net balance, $2,952,929.12.46, including $2,311,028.56.73 working balance; custom receipts for the month, $18,833,440.75. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $3,138,193,766.25; expenditures, $5,034,384,934.13, including $1,888,465,015.34 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $1,896,191,167.88; gross debt, $39,568,487,667.17, an increase of $5,618,329.07 above the previous day; gold assets, $14,619,908,912.65.

Knife-Thrower Misses

Pittsburgh, Jan. 24 (AP)—Thomas Calvert, a professional knife-thrower who uses his wife for a target, was maid as well as master in the Calvert home today. He took on the added duties, including those of personal attendant for his wife, after one of his blades pierced her arm above the elbow during their act yesterday in a downtown club. Both treated the accident lightly—and went to work rehearsing the act.

Survived Ten Hours In Sea

After clinging 10 hours to life preservers billowed by 15-foot swells these seven survivors and three others were saved by the tanker Esso Baytown, which brought them to New York city. They were bound for Bermuda from New York aboard the Imperial Airways flying boat Cavalier, which was forced down at sea. Shown as they were interviewed on arrival are: (L. to R.) back row, M. R. Alderson, captain of the ill-fated ship; Nell Richardson, first officer; David Williams, steward; and Patrick Chapman, radio officer; and, front row, Mrs. George Ingham of Radnor, Pa., and Bernada; Mrs. Edna Watson of Montreal and Bernada, who was credited with saving Capt. Alderson's life by holding him afloat when he became unconscious, and Charles M. Talbot of Brookline, Mass.

Committee Asks Philippine Delay

Roosevelt Gives Report to Congress; Says He Approves
Postponement of Freedom

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt submitted to congress for its consideration today the report of the joint preparatory committee on Philippine affairs recommending postponement from 1946 to 1960 of economic independence for the Philippines.

Mr. Roosevelt said the report, made public last November, had his approval as well as that of President Quezon of the Islands. It proposes gradual elimination of existing trade privileges, beginning in 1946, to permit the island republic to adjust its economy to the normal condition of a completely free country having to pay in full tariffs the United States demands of other nations.

Full duties on her exports to this country finally would be levied 14 years after political independence was granted in 1946.

The report was prepared by a committee appointed by President Roosevelt and Quezon.

The American group was headed by John Van A. MacMurray, American ambassador to Turkey. In his message, the president merely said:

"I transmit herewith for the consideration of the congress the report of the joint preparatory committee on Philippine affairs appointed by President Quezon and myself to recommend a program for the adjustment of Philippine national economy."

"This report was made public on November 29, 1938. It has my approval and the approval of President Quezon as indicated in the press announcements, copies of which are attached, made on the date of publication of the report."

Corey Tells Forum System Of Profits Halts Recovery

The system of private profits stands in the way of economic recovery in this country, and unless private capital takes up the slack the government must, said Lewis Corey, economist and lecturer, who addressed the public forum sponsored by the Men's Club of Temple Emanuel and the Kingston Jewish Youth Alliance. The lecture was delivered in Temple Emanuel and was largely attended.

Mr. Corey traced the history of depressions in the last four hundred years, and said that this was the longest depression in the history of our country, and that it had shown that the modern capitalist system had failed.

He said that under our present profit system there would never be a full recovery. We had had depressions before and would have

Hopkins' Program to Bolster Conditions May Be Given Soon

Britain to Enlist Big 'Overalls Army'

London, Jan. 24 (AP)—Great Britain announced plans for an industrial, "overalls army" of more than 6,000,000 men today as the insurgent advance in Spain intensified European concern over what ultimate consequences may arise from the civil war.

The government through the ministry of labor called the scheme one of "selective recruitment," by which workmen between 18 and 64 would in war time be placed in "reserved occupations"—the munitions, defense and public service industries.

Secretary of Commerce, His Confirmation Behind Him, Is Expected to Submit Plan to Council

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Harry Hopkins may present to the business advisory council this week the first broad outlines of his program for improving economic conditions and increasing employment through the cooperative efforts of business and government.

The council meets here Thursday, and Hopkins, who was confirmed by the senate yesterday as secretary of commerce, is expected to take the occasion to submit his ideas for business improvement.

These have not been divulged in detail even to some of his close associates. He is expected, however, to call for specific attacks on several problems, possibly including friction between business and the government, factionalism in organized labor, the construction lag in the utilities industry, and the railroad financial situation.

The senate approved Mr. Roosevelt's appointment of Hopkins 58 to 27 after opponents had criticized his administration of the WPA.

Favoring confirmation were 53 Democrats, Senators Nye and Frazier, North Dakota Republicans; Norris (Ind-Neb); LaFollette (Prog-Wis); and Lundeen (Pi-Minn).

Opposing Hopkins were 21 Republicans, Senator Shipstead (Fl-Minn) and five Democrats, George (Ga), Gerry (RI), La Follette (W. Va), King (Utah) and Van Nuys (Ind).

Court Will Dispose Of Policy Cases in Monday's Session

New Paltz Colored Resident
Gets Dannemora Term
for Assault; Bench
Warrant for Gallo

Five of the policy slip cases which have been pending in county court for several months have been set down for disposition on Monday next when pleas will be taken.

This announcement was made by District Attorney Cleon B. Murray at a short session of county court Monday afternoon. The cases which he said would be disposed of are the Aldala, Partlan, Decker, Durham, Alcon and Martello cases. Several other gambling cases in which Fred Stang appears as counsel, were set down for Wednesday afternoon of this week, when it is expected some action will be taken.

Marion Rucker, colored, resident of the town of New Paltz, was given a term of from 1½ to 3 years at hard labor in Clinton Prison at Dannemora on his plea of guilty to assault. It was charged that Rucker assaulted three companions at the Keller farm last fall, one of them, Horace Jones, being so badly injured that he required hospital attention. Elmer H. Nathan had been assigned to the case. It was charged that trouble started after a drinking bout and Rucker ran amuck. Thomas Gallo, who is charged with abandonment, failed to put in an appearance in court and Judge Traver directed a bench warrant be issued. District Attorney Murray said that Gallo had been cited three times to appear in court but had not responded other than to send numerous telegrams.

Rocco Lallocco, 21, of 67th street, New York city, was arrested on a charge of robbery, first degree, and grand larceny, alleged to have been committed on July 14, 1938, at Lloyd when it is charged he and a companion held up Charles Fields. A. W. Lent appeared for defendant and a plea of not guilty was entered and he asked for ten days to make further motions. Bail was continued.

James Mitchell, 23, of Gage street and John F. Ferguill of East Kingston, who with Joseph J. Nagy of Kingston are charged with a holdup at the William Althers gas station near Saugerties last June, appeared by their counsel, Roscoe V. Elsworth and changed a former plea of not guilty to robbery, first degree, to one of the guilty to grand larceny, first degree. This plea of the two young men was accepted and Judge Traver announced he would sentence the two on Monday next. Nagy is represented by David Schoenag who was out of town.

The case of The People vs. George E. Smith it was reported would be disposed of by a plea on Wednesday. A. W. Lent appeared for Smith.

The Matthew D. Breen case was set down for Wednesday at 10 o'clock and the court directed that Breen's attorney be notified of the time.

In the case of Catherine De-Pola and her husband Arthur, the case was held until Wednesday because of the illness of Harold D. Cohen who has been assigned to the case as defense attorney.

The Jack Goldstein case was put over the term on motion of Attorney Lonstein.

Amedeo Corcone's case went over until Monday because of the absence of William H. Grogan, his counsel. The Jerry Marmarelli case went over until Wednesday when Judge Culliton will be present.

The Floyd Weeks case was again called and Thomas J. Plunket appeared and stated that Granville Weeks, father of Floyd, was very ill and he asked the case go over the term. He said Mr. Weeks was an important and necessary witness. Floyd Weeks is charged with attempted murder and assault arising out of the death of his aged uncle back in 1935. Mr. Murray asked that a doctor's certificate be presented to the court on Wednesday or he would move the case for trial.

Dora Wilkins of Lloyd, charged with abduction, had her case set down for Wednesday at 10 o'clock. Michael Nardone appeared for the defendant.

Edmond L. Gendarme pleaded guilty to carrying concealed weapons without the formality of acquiring a license. He was sentenced to jail for two months. J. Edward Conway appeared for him.

Both the John Connell and Clinton F. Gardner cases were put over until Wednesday on application of Chris J. Flanagan. The David Myerhoff case went over the term as did the Katherine O. Miller case. Lee Coddington had his case set down.

Conway Presents Bill to Prevent Sewer Compulsion

Local Assemblyman Introduces Measure Which Would Amend Discharge of City
Sewage Into Hudson

Assemblyman J. Edward Conway of this city Monday night introduced in the state legislature a bill designed to preclude state health department officials from taking any immediate action towards forcing the city of Kingston and also other communities along the Hudson river, to have sewage disposal plants in operation by December 1, 1940.

According to special information from Albany under terms of the measure, the public health law is amended to provide that the discharge of city sewage into the waters of the Hudson river shall not be unlawful, or be required to be discontinued, prior to January 1, 1944. The measure has been referred to health committee for further consideration.

Introduction of the bill follows on an announcement made earlier this month by Charles A. Holmquist, chief of the state health department, that conditions described as "distinctly a menace to health" were found in the state's survey made along both shores of the Hudson river for a distance of about 40 miles from a point north of Kingston to a point opposite West Point.

At that time Mr. Holmquist said:

"Fortunately the movement to terminate objectionable pollution of the river is well under way. Many sewage treatment plants will be constructed in municipalities along the Hudson this year, and in the not too distant future we may confidently look forward to a clean river."

Opposition by Mayor Heiselman of Kingston to immediate commencement of construction of a disposal plant is based upon the additional financial burden it would place upon the city. The cost of such a project to Kingston, it has been estimated, would be at least $400,000. Two plants would be required for Kingston, with an annual cost of maintenance in the neighborhood of $12,000.

In accordance with this view, the Kingston board of public

Barnes Is Chosen Agriculture Head; County Fair Date

New Paltz Man Is President of County Society; August
23 Is Fixed as Date
for Yearly Fair

I. C. Barnes of New Paltz, Saturday was elected president of the Ulster County Agricultural Society, and Wednesday, August 23, fixed as the day for holding the annual Ulster county fair in Kingston. This year the fair will be held either in the new municipal stadium or, as usual, in Forsyth Park, the place to be definitely fixed later.

Other officers elected at the annual meeting were: First vice president, Harold V. Story; second vice president, R. V. O. DuBois, and E. W. Hathaway, secretary-treasurer.

The following directors were elected each for three years: Robert G. Groves and John F. Roosa of Kingston, John H. Saxe of West Hurley, A. P. Kaplan of Accord, William J. Osterhout of Accord, and Francis E. Gaffney of Chundade. The other members of the board are Fred DuBois of New Paltz, Pratt Boice of Lake Katrine, Edgar M. Clarke of Milton, Harry Beatty of Kingston, R. V. O. DuBois of Gardiner, Mrs. Howard A. Lewis of Kingston, Ray A. Elmendorf of Hurley, Harold V. Story of Ulster Park, I. C. Barnes of New Paltz, Otto Mollenhauer of Rosendale, A. H. Chambers of Kingston, and John Miller of Lomontville.

The society paid $4,139 in cash premiums on exhibits at the one day county fair and farmers' field day held in Forsyth Park last year.

President Barnes has appointed the following superintendents of departments for the annual fair this year: John F. Roosa horses; Harry Beatty, cattle; John Miller, poultry; Cyril C. Small, fruit; Miss Everice Parsons, domestic; Pratt Boice, 4-H Clubs; I. C. Barnes, Granges; and Mrs. Howard A. Lewis, educational. The foregoing together with A. H. Chambers, Francis E. Gaffney, Fred DuBois, President Barnes and Secretary Hathaway comprise the 1939 fair committee.

President Barnes and Secretary Hathaway were named delegates to the state convention of county fairs to be held in Albany on February 27.

Medical Association to Begin Court Fight to Kill Indictment

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—The American Medical Association will begin a fight in federal court tomorrow to quash an indictment accusing it, along with some of its members and affiliates of monopolistic practices.

While Congressmen are studying the vast national health program submitted yesterday by President Roosevelt, the A. M. A. will try to show that it did not conspire to restrain trade in opposing Group Health, Inc., an association of federal employees providing medical services for a monthly fee.

The court hearing will be on a motion to question grand jurors about the evidence which government attorneys presented in a secret nine-week inquiry.

The question of prepaid medical service raised indirectly by

$250,000 Value

Schwarzwaelder Property
Valued at $250,000 One time; Employed 150

Practically the whole village of Chichester went under the auctioneer's hammer today and the highest bid offered for the community was $30,500, according to the last report of The Freeman before going to press.

The sale was held to liquidate the assets of the William Schwarzwaelder & Co., Inc., manufacturers of fancy furniture.

The property offered for sale included the big wood-working plant of the company, 44 dwelling houses, the church, social hall, recreation hall, warehouse, store and all of the factory buildings, including the machinery, equipment and materials on hand.

The sale was being held in the social hall on the property and was conducted by the Underwriters Salvage Co., auctioneer, who had been appointed to conduct the sale.

The lien on the factory amounted to $25,500, and the best the auctioneers could do was get $5,000 more from bidders. As The Freeman went to press, the property had not been struck off.

According to rough estimates, the Schwarzwaelder place was worth $250,000 when in full operation, but the best offer for the machinery and materials today was $7,500. Dissatisfied with this offer, the sale was moved over until tomorrow at 11 a. m., when pieces will be sold individually.

Residents of the woodworking town today recalled when 150 men worked in the factory, prior to 1932 when business waned. From then on things were not so good, and last December only 50 workmen were employed part time.

The highest bids received today are to be submitted to Special Master Peter B. Olney, Jr., at his court rooms on or before January 30.

Company Well Known
The Schwarzwaelder Co.'s wood-working plant supplied interior wood work to many notable buildings throughout the United States and was well known for the excellence of the work turned out. A large share of the company's activities was devoted to turning out fine woodwork for bank interiors, and other public buildings.

The plant was the leading industry in that section of Ulster county. The plant was taken over in 1897 by W. O. Schwarzwaelder, and for years was carried on as a chair factory exclusively. In later years it turned out all kinds of interior woodwork of fine quality.

It was through the efforts of Mr. Schwarzwaelder that the plant became widely known, for he took over the chair factory when the works and the village were in the last degree of decay, infused new life, installed new machinery, erected new houses for his employees, and enlarged the entire plant.

Mr. Schwarzwaelder erected club houses, bowling alleys, brought in amusements, dance hall, billiard tables, lodge hall, fountains, constructed artificial lakes, new roads and parks. Improved the school, until the little village was one of the most charming in the whole Catskill mountain region.

Practically the entire village, numbering some 500 residents, depended for their livelihood upon work at the plant.

To Leave Barcelona

Barcelona, Jan. 24 (AP)—United States Vice Consul Douglas Flood said today the U. S. S. Omaha would evacuate about 20 Americans from the hard-pressed Barcelona area tonight or tomorrow morning. (Previous reports said approximately 120 of the 150 Americans in Barcelona had decided to remain in the government capital.) The United States cruiser, ordered here from Villefranche, southern France, was expected to arrive at Caldesa, 24 miles north of Barcelona, this afternoon to take the Americans aboard.

Sportsmen's Show In New York City

Among the interesting features for the National Sportsmen's Show in Grand Central Palace, New York, February 13 to 26, will be Joe LaFlamme and his trapper's camp. Joe is a French Canadian from Gogama, Ontario, and is known as the "Bad Wolf Man of the North".

Several years ago Joe trained a team of wolves to harness and drove these around like an ordinary dog team. Long since he has succeeded in training another team of seven which he will take to New York. Joe is not what would be called fragile, for he weighs 260 pounds, and in his younger days was on the Montreal Police force.

An entirely different North country exhibit will be installed at the show this year. In addition to the LaFlamme camp there will be an Indian trapper's hut fashioned entirely of birch bark and bound with spruce roots. This is being made in New Brunswick at present. There will be Indians, sled dogs and other interesting atmosphere.

Another feature will be a Maine trapper's camp with a collection of beautiful mink, muskrat, wildcat, otter, fisher and other skins just as they are handled after the animals have been trapped. They will be on stretchers and will hang on a section of an old barn wall.

Numerous guides from various woodland localities will reveal their skill along specialized lines, such as wood-chopping and sawing, log-rolling, casting, canoeing and so forth.

Unusual Sign Erected
Ithaca, Pa.—Signs warning motorists of an unusual hazard have been erected along the Ithaca-Dryden highway in the vicinity of Pine Woods. "Deer crossing. Drive slowly." Is their message, provided by the State Conservation Department. Several motorists have had narrow escapes during recent months when deer have jumped into the highway in the paths of their cars. Several deer have been killed.

Production of the Canadian glass industry in 1937 amounted to $14,437,250, the highest since the record year of 1929 when the value was $15,507,442. The 1937 total was 30 per cent above the 1936 figure which in turn was 11.7 per cent higher than 1935.

Financial and Commercial

Sharp Break in Stocks Laid to Foreign Situation

Following the sharp declines, particularly in the industrial issues, Saturday, stocks on the New York Stock Exchange took a real tumble Monday, with volume of trading up to 1,870,000 shares. The heaviest trading was in the first hour, when 560,000 shares changed hands, industrial averages losing over $3 a share from Saturday's closing prices before 11 o'clock.

At the close Industrials, as measured in the Dow-Jones averages, were down 5.44 points for the day, to 141.32, well under the November low point. Ralls were off 1.97 points, to 29.13 and the utilities had dropped 1.27 points, to 22.70.

Although international brokers saw no actual news justifying the break, apprehension over the foreign situation is credited with one of the sharpest breaks since last September when the news preceding the Munich gathering sent securities down. The current scare seems based on the possibility that the war in Spain is near to a settlement, with apprehension over claims that Germany and Italy may make for their share an insurgent victory, in addition, this were more or less alarming, but unofficial reports of demands to be made upon France by Italy, with German backing.

Presumably all these developments were leading factors in trading on the foreign exchanges, before the opening of the New York Exchange. In London both Industrials and rails set new lows for the year. Abrupt declines were registered in both Paris and Amsterdam although prices closed above the lows for the day.

Gold and Swiss francs declined widely as international capital was seen seeking refuge in the New York Sterling, which was higher, but only after it had been given official support.

Commodities dropped in sympathy with stocks, future indices showing the sharpest break since the first part of December. Cotton futures closed eight to ten points lower; wheat and corn were down; hide futures established a new all-time high, with prices dropping 44 to 57 points.

Leading auto manufacturers have revised their production scale upward for this month and the present estimate for January is 355,000 units as against earlier expectation of 235,000 as the maximum. On this basis January is likely to show a gain of 55 per cent over January last year, when demand was rapidly decreasing.

Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power, subsidiary of United Light & Power, withdrew from its contract to sell out to two public power authorities in Nebraska. Inability of the authorities to finance immediate purchase is given as the reason.

December net income of Pennsylvania is placed at $2,592,939, comparing with a deficit of $608,809 in December 1937. Net for the year, however, is $11,046,100 compared with net of $27,578,658 in 1937.

With sales off 13 per cent J. I. Case reported net profit of $3,422,372, or $8.89 on common, in year ended October 31, 1938, vs. $11.37 a share earned in 1937. A. G. Spaulding reported total loss of $1,054,392 for year ended October 31. Had loss of $310,866 in preceding year.

Caterpillar Tractor's net of $3,235,709, or $1.41 on common, in 1938, compares with $1,168,689, or $5.24 a share in preceding year. The internal light in the CIO's automobile unit is said to be influencing toward further government control of unions. Possibility of action of legislation to insure that processes of organization, control and bargaining will be placed on a higher plane than at present.

Goos With Dedrick's

Ralph B. Reed, pharmacist with the United Cut Rate Pharmacy, has resigned his position with that concern and has gone with Dedrick's Drug Store at 308 Wall street.

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON

Advertising: Sandwich men run pretty much to type, that is in the way of equipment—two boards and cards to hand out. Occasionally there is variation. For instance, that old man who parades Forty-second street doing publicity for a paint-to-match establishment. As he comes toward you, his sign is lopped with a white man. Going away from you, the man is colored. It remained for Bill, however, driving away up on Broadway, to discover something unique. The sandwich man had the usual boards. But instead of carrying cards, he had a portable radio which was playing loud and strong. The light changed before Bill could tell whether he was attached to his employer's establishment with wires but at any rate, he attracted a lot of attention. And what was he advertising? You'd never guess—a radio store.

Controversy: Whether to do the hair up or down has split the fair sex into two factions. It seems that Hollywood's stars refuse to pile their hair on top of their heads and that recently 60 of the New York's smartest deb, gathered at a luncheon with their hair down. Those who argue against the hair up hold that it gives an older appearance and that no hair fashion in the last decade has been more flattering to a woman than the "casual coiffure" which falls in soft curls at the nape of her neck. And so despite the dictates of a fashion which says, up, one of the town's big department stores advertised that "hair up is out." As for me, I'm neutral. I can't forget the sad fate of the campaign against red fingernails—a campaign that came home to roost.

Pictorial: Years and years ago, a young photographer started in business in Yorkville. An expert and conscientious workman, he specialized in children. He began with baby pictures and went on up through the years. Then came wedding pictures and next pictures of children of those whom he had pictured as children. He's now working on the third generation. Having kept specimens of the work he has done, his studio is now a pictorial history of that section of the city.

Grim: There have been only seven electrocutions at Sing Sing prison during the last year. This is a record; over a nine-year period the average number has been 16 each year. The present low may or may not indicate a falling off in crimes for which the sentence is death. But it does indicate a falling off in the income of Robert Elliott. The state executioner is paid $150 each time he throws the switch.

Useful: Mrs. Louise Hamer told me of the woman who got on a subway train at an uptown station with a big bass viol. The doughouse or rowboat, or whatever swing musicians call it, was in a case of course and in the case were two pockets. After some trouble, the woman found a seat and propped the bass violin beside her. Then she opened the bottom pocket and took out knitting needles and yarn. All the way downtown, her needles flew. And Mrs. Hamer never did learn what she carried in the other pocket in the bass viol case. But she believes it might have been her luncheon.

End Piece: New York color scheme as painted by Andre Baruch: Skyscraper gray, taxicab yellow, Union Square red, greenhorns, blues singers, the Great White Way and that well-known dark brown taste. To which might be added the Wall street gold and Park avenue purple.

Allied Memory Bell in Verona, Italy, Recast

VERONA, ITALY.—A bronze bell cast from the metal guns of the Allied armies, which for several years has rung the daily sunset signal at Roverto in memory of the dead of the World War regardless of nationality, has been recast in a Verona factory after developing a flaw.

During the recasting gold and silver objects donated by the governments of 14 former belligerents and by a large number of individuals were dropped into the liquid metal. The new bell, which is larger than the original and stands 9 feet high, will soon be sent back to the historic castle at Roverto to resume the memorial sunset signal.

Halt Beavers' Inroads By Polite Blackmail

REGINA, SASK.—Blackmail is being steadily awarded a colony of 25 beavers on the outskirts of Regina.

The beavers took up winter residence in a creek near a school. The school has several hundred young willow trees growing on the banks of the creek. The busy animals, intent on building homes, started to gnaw down the prize trees.

No way was found to halt the destruction. Finally school authorities were blackmailed into hauling poplar trees to the creek bank for the beavers.

The willow trees were saved.

Health Campaign Support Is Asked

What the public can do to help wipe out syphilis was told today by Joseph M. Fowler, president of the Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health.

"First of all, people must acquaint themselves with facts about this great plague which is a menace to all," Judge Fowler declared.

"Then everyone can lend active support to groups which are seeking adequate local, state and federal appropriations and legislation in their fight against syphilis," he added.

"We must all see to it that our own boys and girls are protected from this dreadful disease and learn if there are any infections in our own households."

Mr. Fowler called attention to the plans being made in Ulster county for the observance of Third National Social Hygiene Day on February 1, and stressed the importance of this annual event in focusing public attention on the social hygiene problems the community faces.

"For three years," Mr. Fowler said, "we have done a lot of talking about syphilis and a great deal of progress has been made. The time has now come to consolidate our gains and to plan new strategies along the proved lines which have already been laid down."

Several replies have been received at the committee office, 74 John street, from organizations, who will send representatives to this meeting to be held at the Kingston High School February 1 at 8 p. m.

Dr. Spottswood Taylor of the City Laboratory and Dr. Hollis Ingraham, district state health officer of the State Department of Health, will be the speakers for two separate groups at this meeting.

The public is invited and admission is free.

Wins Contest

The amateur vaudeville night, held each Wednesday at the Kingston Roller Rink, has been attracting large crowds since its inception several months ago. Winners of Wednesday's contest which tests the skill of the skaters, were Thomas Slicker, Miss Ruth McCarron, Herman Fries, Dr. Derwood Myers, Miss Marie Lund, Lewis Straley and Miss Emma Barnes. Several amateur acts have been booked for this Wednesday evening, following the policy of the Kingston Roller Rink in presenting some variety of novel entertainment each night in the week.

New Comet Reported

Moscow, Jan. 24 (AP)—A new comet was reported today by a Russian scientist. Pravda, the communist party organ, said Prof. Kozlik of the Tashkent astronomical observatory in Central Asia had found the comet between the constellations of Cygnus and Pegasus. It was discernible as "a foggy stain with a very pale tail." (The discovery of a new comet by Leslie C. Pelletier, amateur astronomer of Delphos, O., was announced Saturday by the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia. Pelletier's discovery was described as a bright nucleus surrounded by a fuzzy patch of light.)

The Jefferson Bible

The Jefferson Bible is a compilation made by Thomas Jefferson of passages from the four gospels cut out and pasted in a book according to a scheme of his own. Jefferson bought this work about the year 1804, while he was President. He bought two English Bibles and compiled a book of 48 pages, using all the words attributed to Jesus, as well as some other passages closely in accord with His words. About 1819 Jefferson completed the work by doing the same with Testaments in Greek, Latin and French, designating the complete work "The Life and Morals of Jesus of Nazareth." He used two maps in the volume, one of Palestine and another of the ancient world. The original book is in the National museum at Washington.

Boys Ride Tortoises

Turtle riding is one of the favorite games down at Nassau in the Bahamas. The native boys at Nassau love to play jockey to 700-pound sea turtles. Their method is to dive for a big salt water tortoise lying quietly on the bottom in the transparent water and grab the forward end of its shell just back of its neck. It's a dangerous way to mount the animal, because if he draws in his neck and elects to stay down, the rider's hands may be caught between the turtle's neck and his shell, and the rider has to stay down with him. However, the boys know just how to do it. The turtle comes to the surface, and the ride begins. The only trouble is that there isn't any way of guiding this steed; the boy has to go where his mount happens to feel like swimming.

Dickens' Chosen Home

Gad's Hill in England, forever associated as the last home of Charles Dickens, was the place Dickens had picked out to dwell in when he had arrived at the fulness of fame and prosperity. When yet a boy, he would often pass the house with his father, and frequently say to him: "If ever I have a dwelling of my own, Gad's Hill Place is the house I mean to buy."

To Make Big Hike

Utica, N. Y.—Hike No. 1,000 of the Utica Tram and Trail Club in August, 1940, will be a 6,000 round-trip trek to the Canadian Rockies. It will be made by train.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Florence Walters died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Cole at Centerville, Monday morning. She was in her 70th year. Mrs. Walters is survived by three brothers, Fred A. Walters of Long Island, Albert Walters of New York, and Harold Walters of Salisbury, Md.; one sister, Mrs. Bertha Helson of Manoa, Pa., and four grandchildren.

Highland, Jan. 24.—Funeral services for the late William H. Robinson were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Carpenter funeral parlor and were conducted by the Rev. Samuel A. MacCormac. Burial was in the Highland cemetery, and the bearers were members of the Brairhead Howell lodge Jr. O. U. A. M. of which the deceased was a member. He was 82 years of age and died at the home of his son, Ira Robinson on the North road. Besides his son he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. T. L. Donaldson, of Poughkeepsie and 13 grandchildren.

The funeral of William B. F. Rogers, formerly of Kingston, who was found dead in his law office in New York city, Saturday, was held Monday from the Fairchild Mortuary chapel in Brooklyn. The body was cremated. Mr. Rogers, a graduate of Kingston Academy, left Kingston about 25 years ago. For 12 years he was connected with the Fox Film Corporation and later joined a partner in conducting a law business of his own. His body was found by a building superintendent at 44 Wall street, Saturday. Death was due to an attack resulting from a kidney ailment. Surviving are two sons, Dana and Jansen Rogers, both of New York city; his father, Frank L. Rogers of 187 Clinton avenue, Kingston, and three brothers, John H. of New York city, Leslie E. of Utica and Elliott Rogers of Kingston.

Peter J. Reis, well known resident of this city, died this noon at his home, 19 Ridge street, following a long illness. He was born in Kingston, the son of John and Mary Schatzel Reis, and for years was employed as a sawyer on the Dwyer boatyard. Mr. Reis was a lifelong member of St. Peter's Church and a member of the Holy Name Society of that church. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Bertha Leippert Reis; two daughters, Mrs. Joseph P. Bruck and Miss Elizabeth Reis; a son, George Reis, employed by The Freeman; four brothers, Frank Reis of this city, and Leo, Charles and Nicholas Reis, of Lomontville, and a sister, Mrs. James Leahy, of Hurley, and four grandchildren. Funeral services will be held from the late afternoon at 3 o'clock and thence to St. Peter's Church, where at 9:30 o'clock a requiem Mass will be offered. Burial in the family plot in St. Peter's cemetery.

Alderman Paul A. Zucca and family were called to Danbury, Conn., today by the death of Mr. Zucca's mother, Mrs. Rosa Zucca. The latter died at her home on Patch street, Danbury, Monday morning. She would have celebrated her 80th birthday had she lived to the coming April. Mrs. Zucca had made her home in Danbury since coming to this country from Italy in 1886. Her husband died about 12 years ago. Mrs. Zucca's health had been failing somewhat for the past year, but not noticeably until last September, when the shock caused by two trees falling upon the house, during the hurricane, aggravated a heart condition and she had steadily declined since that time. Funeral services will be held Thursday morning in St. Joseph's Church, Danbury. Seven children survive, four sons and three daughters. They are Paul A. Zucca, of Kingston; Merrick and Edward of Danbury; Peter of Detroit, Mrs. Frank Giardina, Mrs. Charles Bassett and Miss Angie Zucca of Danbury. Deceased also leaves 10 grandchildren.

Alan Scott Mackenzie died at his residence in Rosendale January 23, in his 90th year. Born in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1849, grandson of Sir Alan S. Mackenzie, a colonel commanding in the British service at Balaklava, and only son of Dr. Alan S. Mackenzie, lieutenant of the University of Edinburgh, he was brought to this country by his parents in 1852, where his father soon established a large and lucrative practice, his mother dying in 1853, and the family prospering. His father acted as surgeon in the field and received a wound from which he eventually died, leaving his son at an early age without means, home or kindred. In 1870, he matriculated in the medical department of the University of Maryland, but being unable to maintain himself there became connected with an importing company. Having offices in London and New York he remained here for more than 40 years, going to Brazil as general manager of the firm's business with offices at Santos and Obidos, from which he shipped native mahogany to all parts of the civilized world, being the highest paid executive in the firm's service. Severing his connection with the company in 1906 he sailed for Europe where after some years of constant travel and observation he returned home and purchased the American Hotel at Rosendale. This business proving unsatisfactory to a man of his habits he soon sold the property and purchasing a residence at Rosendale had since lived in retirement. In 1922 he was married to Miss Agnes Swan, who survives him, and who is the second daughter of William Edmondson Swan of Inverness, Scotland, and grandniece of the present Archbishop of Canterbury. Last lineal descendant of the Scottish novelist, Henry Mackenzie, author of "The Man of Feeling," he left no living relatives. Mr. Mackenzie's hobby was writing poetry and several of his works have been published in The Freeman. The funeral will be held at the chapel of A. Carr &

Liberia Has Surplus

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—While much of the world resorted to deficit financing, the Republic of Liberia ended its last fiscal year with a surplus. This was reported today by Lester A. Walton, American Minister to the African country. He added that the Republic paid all obligations on its funded debt, and made substantial payment on its internal debt.

W. F. Kenney Dies

St. Paul, Jan. 24 (AP)—William Patrick Kenney, 69, president of the Great Northern Railway since 1932, and the last of the James J. Hill-trained executives of that road, died at St. Joseph's hospital here early today. The executive had been engaged in railway work for 52 years, 37 of them with the Great Northern.

Card of Thanks

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our many relatives and friends, the employees of the Hercules Powder Co., and the J. B. Baco Co., also the members of the Holy Name Society of Immaculate Conception Church for their many kind expressions of sympathy and their beautiful floral offerings, received during our recent bereavement, the death of our father Walter J. Stopczynski.

Card of Thanks

The family of the late Mrs. Lena Coutant of Stone Ridge wish to thank their friends and neighbors for the many acts of kindness and words of comfort during the illness and death of the deceased.

Finds Secret to Seeing in Dark

Nutrition Chemist Attributes Faculty to Drinking Cod Liver Oil.

TUCSON, ARIZ.—A new use has been found here for cod liver oil—drink it and you can see at night like a cat.

At least that is the result of experiments of Dr. Margaret Cammak Smith, nutrition chemist of the University of Arizona, in attempting to cure "night blindness," a peculiar condition that develops in the eye from a lack of regeneration of "pigment purple," a vitamin A substance.

The blindness can be corrected in children by use of cod liver oil, Doctor Smith said.

Conducting a test of 127 undernourished children here for 10 weeks and many others during the last year, Doctor Smith said she had successfully corrected night blindness by daily doses of the oil.

Children Like Natural Oil.

The test also had its reverberations in the laboratories which furnished the cod liver oil, Doctor Smith reported. The children liked the natural kind better than the highly refined, odorless type which has been developed at the laboratory.

Doctor Smith started out to prove whether a lack of vitamin A in Mexican families of the low wage bracket was reflected in the children's vision, growth, susceptibility to disease, especially of the respiratory tract, and breaks in health, such as tuberculosis.

The answer to all these questions was "yes," Doctor Smith said.

Simple Test to Perform.

Despite its importance, the experiment was very simple to perform. Doctor Smith, with a biophotometer at hand, placed each child in a dark room until all the "visual purple" should have regenerated in the eye. Then a bright light was flashed in the child's eyes for three minutes. Then the child was placed in a dark room for the regeneration of the "visual purple" and its rate of regeneration tested.

Doctor Smith found that when she took over the 127 children 30 per cent had a normal eye, 13 per cent were borderline cases and 57 per cent were subnormal. Weight apparently had nothing to do with it, as only 11 per cent were underweight.

After the 10 weeks of the cod liver oil, another test was made. Two-thirds of them reached normal night vision and the other third had improved.

In a group not receiving the cod liver oil, Doctor Smith said no improvement was noted.

Mineral Food on Ranges For Cattle Being Tested

LAS CRUCES, N. M.—The animal husbandry department at State college is carrying the laboratory to cows on the range in a relatively new kind of experiment which will last for three years.

The work is intended mainly to find out if range cattle get enough calcium and phosphorus from normal range feeds, by determining the amounts of calcium and phosphorus in the blood.

Work of this nature has been done on dairy cattle, but results are not applicable to range cattle because it is impossible to get normal range data from feed lot tests.

Two separate groups of cattle are being used. One is quartered on a natural range pasture, the other with a mineral supplement. Results of this experiment should be valuable in determining the value of supplemental mineral feeding for range cattle, college instructors said.

Range work of a similar nature is being done in Arizona and South Africa, school officials said. "Our experiment is somewhat different because they bring the blood samples into a laboratory before caring for them," a spokesman said.

Mobile Phone Exchange Starts Work in London

LONDON.—The postmaster general has inaugurated a new mobile automatic telephone exchange. Two years ago the postoffice introduced the first mobile postoffice to afford postal facilities at shows and other outdoor events.

The new exchange on wheels is the first in the world. It can be used for restoring telephone service if the ordinary exchange is out of action by fire or other calamity. It can also be used where unavoidable delay has occurred in completing a new exchange.

The unit is self-contained, with a petrol engine which automatically recharges the batteries as required. Rain water on the roof is collected and used for cooling the engine. The capacity of the unit is 100 circuits.

OPTOMETRY

Exact, thorough, the eye examination here is made with latest scientific instruments plus experienced optometrical skill.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS CAMPAIGN

Throughout the country a great "March of Dimes" Campaign is in progress in connection with the National Infantile Paralysis Campaign. All citizens are being urged to contribute at least a dime. School children in thousands of communities are contributing their dimes to the cause. In other communities birthday cards are being sent to the White House, each card containing dimes as proof to President Roosevelt that the sender is cooperating in the crusade to stamp out the "Maiming Death." This "March of Dimes" feature of this drive is said to be the greatest movement of coins in the history of the country.

Under the system devised by treasury experts every dime contributed will be duly counted and the name of the contributor listed. This is because fifty per cent of all money contributed in this campaign will be retained in the communities where raised. Throughout Ulster county in addition to the drive for dimes a number of dancing parties will be held, the proceeds going to the same fund. In order to participate in this noteworthy work it is not necessary to attend the social functions. You can greatly assist by sending a contribution to Robert Herzog, treasurer, who is in charge of collecting funds throughout Ulster county. Half of all money collected will be placed in a Kingston bank for the use of members of the Ulster County Medical Association in aiding victims. The other half will be used by the National Foundation.

This year Americans are contributing what officials are expecting to be a record sum for combating the crippling malady. The drive in 1938 brought over a million dollars, largest fund in the first five campaigns. Although infantile paralysis does not rank high as a death cause, it is dreaded because of its crippling effects. It occurs in all sections of the United States and medical science does not know how it is transmitted. Most outbreaks come in late summer. The worst recent epidemic was in 1937 when 9,511 were stricken, and 1,433 died. The disease was less prevalent than in any other year since 1915.

President Roosevelt was stricken with the disease and stands as a symbol of how a person can be rehabilitated when he receives the proper attention. President Roosevelt for many years has done a great work in lending his prestige to this cause and the President's birthday parties are specifically for this purpose and are sponsored throughout the country by non-partisan committees.

Infantile paralysis is no respecter of position in life, striking the rich and poor alike with the same deadly destructiveness. Only the rich have the means, however, to afford proper medical attention and the vast majority of victims come from families who cannot afford to pay for the special forms of treatment. Funds raised during the campaign will be devoted to these unfortunates and for research work. Grants will be made to various universities and hospitals representing all sections of the country in their quest to uncover the truth about the invisible virus. A new plan of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis calls for permanent chapters in every locality in the land dedicated to a renewed search for the cause and cure of the dread disease and for the prompt spreading of all known facts about the treatment to every corner of the United States.

The drive for funds will end this week with the birthday parties and those in a position to do so should help in this movement having for its purpose the salvaging of victims, mostly children, from the ravages of a disease.

A MIRACLE RADIO

Wonderful developments are promised in the realm of radio. Major Edwin H. Armstrong, professor of electrical engineering in Columbia University, according to an announcement from that institution, has found how to do away with static, tube noises and other interference, permitting practically perfect transmission and reception.

The nature of the changes he makes in method, principle and instruments will be a mystery to most people, but perhaps this much can be said without scientific inaccuracy.

Prof. Armstrong uses a revolutionary principle known as "frequency modulation," instead of the "amplitude modulating system" now in use. It will operate on very short waves, perhaps from ten meters down to one meter, thus opening up 1,000 to 1,500 new wave-lengths and greatly extending the possible number of broadcasting stations.

The receiving sets, he thinks, when produced in quantity, need cost no more than good sets now in use. And the new sets can be made to receive from both the present broadcasting outfits and those built for the new type or transmission.

It sounds good; bring 'em along.

COYOTE EVOLUTION

Coyotes, like automobiles, are speedier than they used to be. That, at least, is the opinion of a Texas rancher said to be a student of wildlife and particularly of coyotes.

There's a reason for this improvement. It is a result of the relentless war being waged against coyotes wherever they are found. The ones that are captured or killed are the slow ones. Their swifter fellows survive, leaving a better stock to perpetuate the race.

What will be the outcome? Will the new breed of coyotes be so quick that they can't be caught? Then will they increase until they become once more a problem to ranchers?

Oldtimers disagree with this. The coyote was a speedy traveler even in Indian times, they say. And the drive against the predatory beast is rather effective, in spite of his speed. Some day we may be protecting him, as we have the buffalo and the other wild animals and birds, in order to preserve him from extinction.

"Peck's Bad Boy," famous for his pranks in the gay eighties and nineties, is dead at 77, but will not be greatly missed—there are millions of him now.

Judging from the way this nation is going in for winter sports, we may yet be flocking to Alaska instead of Florida and California.

There's Irish trouble again, but it gets less attention now because things are so much worse in the big countries.

TREATMENT OF SEVERE ASTHMA.

It is only during the past few years that research physicians have given serious thought to seeking the cause of asthma. The fact that inhaling any irritant would give relief in many cases was all that was known. It was then found that an injection of 7 to 15 drops of epinephrine or adrenalin (juice from adrenal glands, would give prompt relief in most cases. Later, it was found that a mixture of equal parts of ether and distilled water slowly injected—during a period of twenty minutes—up into the large bowel, would stop the most violent attacks of asthma. Breathing exercises—breathing air forcibly from lungs, has also proved very helpful.

As to the cause of asthma it has been found that being allergic or sensitive to various substances—fur, feathers, dust, pollen—causes many attacks, and also deformities or defects in nose and throat. Another cause very recently mentioned is nervousness or emotional disturbances.

There are some cases of asthma where the individual appears to be undergoing an attack all the time, that is he is never completely free of that difficulty of getting used air out of his lungs. To give relief in such serious cases, a logical surgical treatment is now being used as described by Drs. W. F. Riehoff, Jr., and L. N. Gay, Baltimore, in Archives of Surgery, Chicago. This consists in cutting the nerve supplying each lung at the point where it leaves the spinal cord. The eleven patients that these physicians chose for the treatment were repeatedly in an asthmatic condition before operation and, of course, were unable to work or mix to any extent with others. The first patient was operated on in March, 1934 and the last in March, 1936. Five additional patients have been operated on since March, 1936; three of whom have remained completely well for one year and two of whom remain improved for less than a year. Deaths due to the operation have not occurred although one elderly patient died later due to a failing heart and high blood pressure.

Of the ten patients discharged from hospital, one was entirely unimproved; one improved for three months and died of heart failure; four are completely well and have resumed their former work, and four have occasional mild attacks which can be controlled by small doses of epinephrine (adrenalin).

The cause can now be found in most cases of asthma and even in stubborn cases, relief is now available.

Allergy

Sensitiveness to various foods or other substances is the cause of many attacks of asthma, also of hives, hay fever, skin eruptions, stomach upsets, headaches. Send today for this helpful booklet by Dr. Barton entitled "Allergy" (No. 106), which tells how to find the offending substances and what to do about them. Send your request to The Bell Library, 247 West 43rd street, New York, N. Y., enclosing ten cents to cover cost of service, and mention The Kingston Daily Freeman.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Jan. 23.—Miss Ruth Johnson, who for the past several months has made her home at Mrs. Jennie Green's, was called to Windham last week by the death of her father.

Miss Mary Weeks of the mountain road spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. John Marks in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Baptiste Nadal of the Heights section, have returned from their motor trip to Mexico City. The couple were accompanied on the trip by their son, Ramon Nadal, and wife, of Kingston.

Gould Personous, well known state road woodsman, is chopping for Ray Cudney, of the Tonawanda mountain neighborhood.

Mrs. Fred Adair and younger son, Rob, are visiting their relatives, the Franklin Hyatt family, in West New York, N. J.

Mrs. E. R. Pierce and Mr. and Mrs. John Marks were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weeks. Mr. Marks accompanied Mrs. Weeks on a trip to Pennsylvania.

Charles Tyler is around after having been laid up with an injured leg as a result of an accident.

Work continues on the job of harvesting the stone-felled trees at Temple's Pond. The sawlogs go to the mill of Bert Jones on the south side of the reservoir. Hundreds of trees were uprooted in the woods bounding the pond on the north and west.

Delle Kinney Scholz, from whose Confederate statue in Nashville, Tenn., was taken the composite sketch which forms the design for the new seven-cent Jackson stamp, formerly resided at Port Ewen. The old sawmill home and studio of Mrs. Scholz and her husband, Leopold Scholz, who also is a sculptor. Replicas of Mrs. Scholz's famed statuette have been erected in several southern state capitols.

Kingston people in Shokan for the week-end included Miss Betty Gruber, who was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elmendorf.

Mrs. Oscar Gantner and Emmett Gantner left town Sunday for Miami, Fla., in their new sports roadster. This is the Gantners' second winter trip south.

White ash is being bought in the north Ulster townships for the making of hammer handles. Price paid for 8-inch minimum logs is reported to be $9 a cord at the roadside. Although the number of white ash trees in this section is fairly large in the aggregate, this valuable wood no longer exists in pure stands of merchantable size.

Declines in Death Rates

NEW YORK.—The populations of the United States and Canada not only are healthy but they are growing even healthier, insurance statistics reveal.

A survey for the first nine months of 1938, as compared with 1937, showed the following decreases:

Influenza-pneumonia deaths, 34.5 per cent.
Automobile fatalities, 16.3 per cent.
Tuberculosis deaths, 10.2 per cent.
Childbirth and maternity mortality, 10.1 per cent.
Deaths from accidents other than automobiles, 7.4 per cent.
Homicidal rate, 8.5 per cent.
Cerebral hemorrhage death rate, 2.4 per cent.
Mortality from kidney ailments, 3.6 per cent.

The survey also disclosed several cases where mortality rates were higher. These included a 2.1 per cent increase in cancer deaths; 10.7 per cent increase in deaths from diseases of the arteries, and a 4.5 per cent increase in the suicide rate.

HUDSON RIVER STEAMBOATS

These articles are written from the collection of George W. Murdock, veteran marine engineer.

No. 76—America

The wooden-hulled steamboat "America" was built at Brooklyn in 1852 and held the distinction of being the third large side-wheel steamboat built purposely for towing service.

She was 212 feet in length with a 30 foot breadth of beam, a gross tonnage of 407 and a net tonnage of 235. Her engine was built by Cunningham and Belpap of New York and was of the vertical beam type with a cylinder diameter of 76 inches and an 11 foot stroke.

Samuel Schuyler was the owner of the "America," using her between Albany and New York hauling large loads of canal boats and barges. She was for years the largest and most powerful tugboat on the Hudson river, and it was a common sight to see the "America" steaming along with from 50 to 90 barges fast to her.

For 38 years the "America" was in service under the banner of the Schuyler Line, and then in the fall of 1890 that towing company went out of existence. The Beaverhook Towing Company then purchased the Schuyler steamboats and continued operating them on the New York-Albany route until the summer of 1934, when this line also ceased doing business.

In the fall of 1894, 42 years after she has built at Brooklyn, the "America," along with the "Niagara," "Syracuse," "C. Vanderbilt" and the "Jacob Leonard," came into the possession of the Cornell Steamboat Company of Poughkeepsie.

Whether or not this picture was the influencing factor in the battle to keep the bridge from this point is not known, but one fact remains—that the bridge was never built at this point and it was not until the "eightheens" that any bridge was built, and then it crossed at Poughkeepsie.

Marriage Custom From Zulus

South Africa's strangest marriage custom for Englishmen dwelling there is taken from the Zulus. The custom is that of presenting the bride's father with a bride payment, or "lobola." Since the "lobola" consists of cattle among the Zulu people, residents of South Africa, who practice the custom present the father with tiny replicas of cattle, dogs and other animals and these are displayed in the bride's old home.

German People Believed to Be Fearing Another Inflation Such as Experienced in 1923.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1939

Washington, Jan. 24.—Acute interest is manifest here in the way the financial markets of Europe and America have broken in the last few days over developments in the German situation. The best information available, however, is that the crisis brought about by the enforced retirement of Dr. Schacht, head of the Reichsbank, marks a temporary lull such as is natural as Germany passes from a period of sound financial arrangements with external factors to a period of inflationary devices and, perhaps, a resumption of short term borrowing from her own industries.

As described here, the German financial policy steered by Dr. Schacht was a deliberate effort to cut down the amount of short term debt. It is estimated, for instance, that more than 55 per cent of all debt in Germany of all kinds is now governmental and that the Schacht policy was an endeavor to convert as much as possible into longer term loans.

German industries, it is said on good authority here, have been forced to take German governmental loans, and now will be loaded with more short term debt and also will fail to get payment on short term debts about to come due.

Unquestionably, this sharp change in Germany's industrial situation has already had repercussions abroad, especially in central European countries where German industries maintain credit relationships. The effort of the Nazis to regulate their own economy, but whatever they do is bound to affect as vitally the smaller countries which are now under Germany's thumb or are likely to be in the next year or so.

Germany's internal debt is now supposed to be about 70 billion marks, which is almost three times what it was before Hitler came into power. This figure for the German debt is not officially conceded, but statisticians who have followed recent German documents are pretty well agreed that it is accurate. At any rate, it is being accepted internationally now as about the size of the German debt.

The German people are believed to be living in fear of another inflation such as was experienced in 1923, when Germany repudiated her internal debt completely and the German population began to suffer so severely that they accepted Nazism as the only way out. The resignation of Dr. Schacht, who is known throughout Germany as an exponent of sound finance and as a man who has never been in sympathy with Nazi policies, may be exciting more interest inside Germany than is apparent from the cables.

Notwithstanding all these adverse factors, expert opinion is that Germany will postpone her financial crisis and get through the present situation by further internal borrowing from the industrial class and capitalistic industries. Ultimately, the view held here is that, as between inflation, which will cause a popular uproar, and confiscation of the capital of the upper classes, the Nazis will choose the latter as less damaging to the maintenance of their own power. Incidentally, the reports reaching here from reliable economic sources abroad are that the anti-Jewish atrocities were not so much aimed at the Jews as at all possible opposition groups in Germany, the purpose being to demonstrate how ruthless the government conceivably could be against any who might challenge the Nazi authority.

To sum up, the best-informed opinion now is that the morale of the German people is at the moment weak on account of fear of another inflation like that of 1923, and fear of another war in which Germany might again be the loser. Despite the censorship, the truth about Germany's plight is slowly becoming known.

Health Officials Relate Value Of City Child Hygiene Bureau

In order that the public, and especially expectant mothers may become aware of the work being done by the Bureau of Child Hygiene, a series of articles is being written by Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, in collaboration with Dr. Rachel Holloway, director of the bureau.

The first of the series follows:

During the past year more than any other time perhaps, talks have been given and articles written on the prevention of ill health and the control of disease. You all are aware of the progress made in the control of syphilis, pneumonia and cancer but probably only few know of what is being done through our Kingston Bureau of Child Hygiene.

Maternity, infancy and child hygiene work is exceedingly interesting and important. Babies have the right to be born well and children to be properly cared for until they are able to care for themselves. Individual and community health in the future will depend on the health and happiness of the babies being born today. The children of today are the rulers of tomorrow. The infant mortality rate has been called the most sensitive index we possess of social welfare, for if babies were well born and well cared for their mortality would be negligible. The infant mortality rate in Kingston averaged 68.7 for the years 1931 to 1935 inclusive. This means that 68 babies, as compared to 1,000 living births, died during the first year of life. This indicates we have a definite need for better prenatal care from the pre-natal period on, to insure healthy infants and mothers healthy and able to care for the new born. The Bureau of Child Hygiene organized in March 1937 has labored constantly to improve conditions incident to childbirth and to see that children are properly cared for especially during their first year of life. A survey has also been conducted to determine some of the factors which have a bearing on the previous high infant mortality rate in the city. There are three nurses, especially trained in public health nursing, who visit expectant mothers, who are requested by their physician, the welfare department or themselves. Their services are not only available to those on relief or WPA but to all who request them. Many in comfortable circumstances have asked the nurses to visit them.

Since early and adequate medical supervision is essential, the nurse makes it her business to see that her cases visit their physician regularly, that they carry out directions, that they have an adequate diet. Where conditions are very poor outside help is obtained through the relief bureau and other charitable agencies. Every effort is made to maintain good physical condition, to relieve the mental strain and worry over the approaching confinement. First babies often cause much worry.

The birth of a baby is such a commonplace, every day occurrence that people do not realize that the margin between health and disease becomes dangerously narrow. The United States leads the civilized world in the rate of mortality attributable to child birth. A great majority of deaths are preventable but only by skilled medical care and supervision can the maintenance of health be assured. Expectant mothers should have a complete physical examination as early as possible. It has been clearly demonstrated that adequate medical care during the pre-natal period is a most important factor in lowering the infant mortality rate. It is one of the chief aims and duties of the Bureau to educate the public so that they may know and realize the importance of early and adequate prenatal care. Expectant mothers should demand it. Physicians should be eager to give it.

Rummage Sale

The Philathea class of the Wurts Street Baptist Church will hold a rummage sale Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at 672 Broadway. The class will be very grateful if friends having articles to donate will phone Mrs. H. Freidel, 41 Clifton avenue, 1435-R, or send same direct to 672 Broadway on the days of the sale.

Establishments in Canada engaged wholly or chiefly in the manufacture of sash, doors, frames, blinds, millwork, moulding and planed and matched lumber reported a value of production in 1937 totaling $24,947,718 compared with $21,638,279 in 1936.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

SOCIETIES CLUBS PERSONALS

W.C.T.U. To Hold Conference Here

The Willard Luncheon Conference of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Ulster County will be held Thursday at the First Dutch Reformed Church from 10:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. with a luncheon served at 12:30 by Mrs. Bert Gildersleeve's Circle of the Henrietta Wynkoop Guild of the church.

Mrs. Emma G. Carpenter, county president, will preside at the meeting after which a devotional service will be conducted in memory of Frances E. Willard. Guest speakers of the day will be Mrs. Mabel Hill, state secretary and Robert Marriott, state president of the Youth's Temperance Council. A department quiz and a training school for officers and directors will be interesting features of the morning session.

The afternoon session will be opened with a short prayer service after which the following program will be presented: "Willard Memorial Goals—How My Country Will Reach Them." "Preparing for our Willard Centennial at Rochester." "Ten Prominent Testimonials to Miss Willard."

The conference will be brought to a close by the presentation of a monologue entitled "The Unconquered Queen" given by Mrs. Ellis T. Bookwalter.

The public is cordially invited to attend both sessions.

Sorosis Told of Laboratory

Sorosis met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Harry P. Van Wageningen at her home on John street. Mrs. Van Wageningen also presented the paper for the day on "The Service of the Laboratory." The club found it interesting and encouraging to know that Kingston has such modern facilities to aid the doctors in their work. The services of the laboratory are manifold and tests are being conducted constantly. The current events review was given by Mrs. Cora E. Drake who reviewed happenings in Spain, Japan and China. Mrs. Theron L. Culver was appointed delegate from Sorosis to attend the representative meeting of the women's groups at the Governor Clinton Hotel January 30. Next week's meeting has been postponed.

To Honor Visitors From Sweden

The Board of Directors of the Y. W. C. A. will entertain at a tea Friday afternoon in honor of Miss Ester Hallstrom, a former general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. in Sweden. Miss Hallstrom is visiting her aunt, Mrs. David Hallstrom at her home on St. James street. She is a cousin of Mrs. Mortimer B. Downer of Fair street. Mrs. George Newton Wood will pour at the tea.

The regular meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Reformed Church will be held in the chapel Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The subject, "Changing the Indian Picture," will be in charge of Mrs. Harry B. Walker, and Mrs. A. Noble Garg, president of the society, will report on the missionary conference held this week in New York city.

Agudas Achim Group to Meet

The regular meeting of the Women's Group of Agudas Achim will be held Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the synagogue. An interesting meeting has been planned, including a discussion of future activities of the group. A social hour will follow. It is requested that all members be present.

"Fair Day" at Y. W. C. A.

"A Day at the Fair" of the Married Women's Club at the Y. W. C. A. Thursday afternoon in charge of Mrs. Addison Schultz, promises to hold many interesting attractions for every member. Refreshments for the afternoon will be in charge of Mrs. Raymond Craft and Mrs. Thomas Reynolds. The original short stories are to be submitted for judging at this meeting.

Olympian Meeting Postponed

The meeting of Olympian Club which was to have been held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. A. L. Berwin on Furnace street has been postponed until January 30.

Twentieth Century Club Meets

Twentieth Century Club met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry B. Walker on Broadway. The only business that was transacted was the appointment of the delegates to the Governor's meeting to be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel January 31 and February 1. They will be Mrs. C. B. Dickinson, Mrs. R. H. D. Boerker and Mrs. Robert Bayler. The roll call for the day was written by Miss Ella Bernard and read by Mrs. Walker. It included the physical features, colonization, educational institutions and commerce of the state of Massachusetts.

Star Officers Club Entertained

Last evening the Officers Club of Kingston Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, was entertained at the home of the worthy matron, Mrs. Jessie M. Wolfsteig on Hinsdale street. During the meeting Miss Edna Renn was elected secretary. Games were played and refreshments served by the hostesses. Those present were Mrs. Frieda Renn, Miss Beatrice Spiegel, Miss Edna Renn, Mrs. Elizabeth Terwilliger, Mrs. Edith Potter, Mrs. Marian Hudler, Mrs. Cornelia Clark, Mrs. Pansy Hudler, Mrs. Margaret Trowbridge, Mrs. Mina Manos, Mrs. Sophie Miller, Miss Nina Noe, Miss Jeanne Hudler, Miss Gertrude Egbertson and Miss Edna Hartwick.

HAS BABY A NASTY COLD?

Believe the Money As Most Mothers Do

Throat baby's back, chest, and rub with Vicks VapoRub and tuck him deep into bed. What a comfort to know that VapoRub goes to work right away to relieve the misery of his cold without "dosing" without risk of stomach upsets. And what a comfort to know that VapoRub will be working—two ways at once—direct through the skin like a poultice, and direct to the bronchial passages with its medicated vapors. You'll find that often by morning the worst of the cold is VICKS VAPORUB over.

Personal Notes

Dr. and Mrs. Frank A. Johnston of 235 Pearl street left today for a vacation. The doctor will resume practice February 17.

Mrs. and Mrs. William C. Kingman of Highland avenue have been called to Staten Island by the sudden death of Mr. Kingman's sister, Mrs. Annie Kingman Jennings.

Miss Everette Parsons, Ulster County Home Demonstration Agent, is attending a training school at the State College of Home Economics at Ithaca. Miss Parsons will return to Kingston the latter part of the week.

Miss Lottie Webster of Manor avenue is spending the week in New York city.

Dr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Fasset of Pearl street have returned from a cruise to South America and the doctor has resumed his practice.

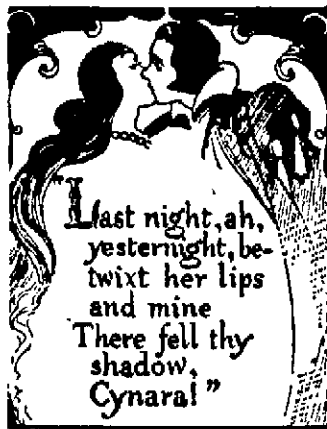

Twins, a son and a daughter, was born in the Benedictine Hospital on Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Bernard A. Feeney of Delaware avenue. Mr. Feeney is a member of the Board of Education of the Kingston public schools.

Mrs. James Betts of Pearl street left today for Caldwell, N. J., to visit her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Craig.

Since some lipstick stains are set by soap, the stain should be spangled with carbon tetrachloride before laundering.

Thrilling to Read Great Poems of Love

New Booklet Has Many Favorites

One of the great love poems of all time! So sweetly Ernest Dowson's lament for the lost "Cynara" touches your heart—reluctantly you come to its end:

"And I am desolate and sick of an old passion,
Yea, hungry for the lips of my desire:
I have been faithful to thee,
Cynara—in my fashion."
And the deathless lyric of Christopher Marlowe, "The Passionate Shepherd To His Love"—how gaily it sings through the ages!

"Come live with me and be my Love,
And we will all the pleasures prove
That hills and valleys, dales and fields,
Or woods or steepy mountain yields."

Do modern poets write of love? In "Somebody's Song" Dorothy Parker beautifully answers your question: "Swift the measured sands may run;
Love like this is never done:
He and I are welded one:
This is what I vow."

Read these immortal poems of Love, the tender passion. In our new 32-page booklet, "Immortal Love Poems," many favorites are given complete. By Shelley, Byron, Emerson, Longfellow, Laurence Hope, Sarah Fensdale, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, others.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of IMMORTAL LOVE POEMS to The Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Mrs. Quacko's Information

"THEY swim," continued Mrs. Quacko, "but they do not fly, because I suppose they've never had to be frightened of creatures and rush away. They're more afraid of some of the creatures who live in the sea."

"They love the cold weather—in fact it can never be too cold for them."

"But I thought," quacked Mrs. Quacko, "that it was warm far south."

"Ah," quacked Mrs. Quacko wisely, "if you go far enough south you run into cold weather just as you do at the North Pole," and she flourished a wing as though she were well up on all kinds of weather everywhere.

"The penguins are birds but they almost look like little people. They're very pleasant and we're sure we're going to enjoy their company this winter. The ones who are with us are called Johnny Penguins—but of course there are a number of different kinds of penguins."

"I made a wedding cake for them—they had liked each other before but they really fell in love, as the saying is, in Puddle Middle."

"Do they live outdoors?" asked Mrs. Quacko.

"Yes, but they're sharing my pond with me and they have built a little nest. When Johnny Penguin gave his future mate the pebble as a kind of engagement ring it was the beginning of their home."

"Oh," quacked Mrs. Quacko, "how romantic—but what did you say about friendly fights?"

"Penguins, it seems," quacked Mrs. Quacko, "have good-natured fights for exercise or fun without getting angry—just as we do," she said.

But at the very moment Christopher Columbus Crow flew back and he cawed a very laughing caw.

Menus Of The Day

By Mrs. Alexander George

Let's Make Fudge!
(Recipe for After-School Cooking)

Chocolate Fudge
3 cups granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup cocoa
1/2 cup milk
1 cup milk

Boil gently, stirring frequently, the sugar, chocolate, milk and butter. When a soft ball forms when a portion is tested in cold water remove from heat. Let stand for 20 minutes. Add vanilla. Beat until creamy. Pour onto buttered platter or waxed paper. Sprinkle with marshmallows, pressing them down into the soft candy.

Peanut Fudge
3 cups dark brown sugar
1 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup peanut butter

Boil together, stirring often, the sugar, milk and butter. When a ball forms in cold water which can be taken up and rolled in the fingers remove the candy from the heat. Let stand for 20 minutes. Add vanilla and beat until creamy. Add nuts and pour onto buttered pan.

Cocoa Nut Fudge
3 cups granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup cocoa
1/2 cup coconut

Boil gently, stirring frequently, the sugar, milk, butter and salt. When a small portion of hot candy is tested in a cup of cold water and forms a soft ball, remove pan from heat. After 20 minutes, add extracts and beat until creamy. Take in hands and knead until soft. Shape into one-inch balls and roll in cocoanut—plain or toasted. Let "set" on waxed paper.

There are three types of lamb chops: rib, loin and shoulder. Rib and loin are best known. Shoulder chops are popular with the thrifty housewife. English chops are of double thickness and are cut across undivided loin. Lamb "choplets" are from breast of lamb.

Economics Speaker to Discuss Phases of Marketing Problem

Mrs. Lucille Williamson from the Home Management Staff at the College of Home Economics will discuss the government and the consumer at a meeting in the Governor Clinton Hotel Wednesday afternoon, February 1, at 2 o'clock. It was announced today.

Many phases of the marketing problem which will aid in "stretching the family dollar as far as possible," will be discussed by the speaker at the open meeting.

Ever Wonder Why You're Constipated?

Do you ever have days when you just have to drag yourself along, when you feel tired, numb, because of that constipation? Then why not find out the real cause of your trouble?

What have you had to eat lately? Just things like meat, bread and potatoes? If that's it, you may not have to look any farther. It's likely your trouble is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and aids elimination.

If "bulk" is what you lack, your ticket is a dish of crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. It contains the "bulk" you need plus Nature's great intestinal tonic, vitamin B.

Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and join the "regulars!" Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

The Characters
 Peter Mallone: A potential newspaperman.
 Petronella: His young sister, and staunch supporter.

Yesterday, Peter enters the "hot" whirl of Burma, but before Peter's friends to the older, new her father wants her to interest: Peter is becoming restless, etc.

Chapter XI

Fighting In The Bazaar

TONIGHT, after dancing till eight o'clock, they drove down to Kommande Six of them had a noisy dinner party in Maller's chummary, the old bungalow which they all thought of affectionately as pleasant, than home. They dined on the veranda. Petronella Peter had invited vivacious Betty Jean, had come with Hugh Read who looked so like a ventriloquist's doll.

A few hundred yards away, the Rangoon river lapped gently between the stems of the mangroves. The moon had not yet risen. An occasional firefly darted among the trees. The throbbing of the mill then broke into yells of excitement and disappeared backstage. The shouting audience struggled to its feet, shouting in answer to his. "What is it? What did he say, Colin?" Jean cried, her small fair face alarmed.

"That there is fighting in the bazaar. That the Cooringhis are killing Burmese women and children, and burning their houses, and that the Burmans must have revenge," translated Colin. "Stand quite still, and let them get out. We haven't a chance for that door. We shall only get crushed, perhaps knifed in that mob. A Burman doesn't care who he slashes with his dah, once he gets excited."

"They had stood close to him, in order to hear him. The pandemonium was deafening. "No, that way is no good!" shouted Peter. He gripped Petronella and Jean by their forearms, and bore them forward. "Come on—over the stage! The other exit!" Even at that instant, Petronella had time to feel proud of Peter. Colin had spoken so grimly, and anxiously Peter was laughing. He looked elated and excited. His confidence communicated itself to the others.

"She's Fainted"

"OF COURSE! Never thought of that!" yelled Hugh. They scrambled up over the footlights, across the roughly carpeted stage. They could tell, from the thudding sound of bare feet, jumping on to

"Out through here! Keep close together," Peter shouted.

thudded through the warm, still air.

After dinner, they piled into the car again.

Flares lighted the booths in the streets through which they drove too fast for safety. Multi-colored electric lights outlined the big tent beneath which Po Sein's Pwe was being held.

They entered at the back of the maquette, and looked across a field of dark heads, at the brightly lighted stage. The air was thick with the smoke of cheroots, and the mingled scents of betel nut, and the too sweet frangipani flowers the women wore in their hair.

There was no scenery. The play-ers stood aside, waiting their turn. A Burmese girl was singing in a nasal, twanging voice, and twirling to the din of the cymbals, drums, and bells of a Burmese band. She was dressed in rich silk, decked like a little Christmas tree, with a wreath of red and white, and a long, curved, wing-like sash of gold.

At once, they were welcomed, and invited to take chairs in front of the spectators. Petronella could not help feeling that they did little to merit such honor. Soon, Jean, Betty, and Hugh were laughing and talking, irrespective of whether the best of the audience laughed, or listened in silence. The singing intonation and incomprehensible patter, between the actors, was extremely monotonous. But whatever general feelings the Burmese had towards the British, they displayed no personal hostility.

"They're Shaky!"

"I WISH I understood" said a whispered to her brother.

"So do I. I can only get words here and there. Peter agreed. "Do you hear anything?" He leaned across her and asked Colin the same question.

"Plenty!"

"I mean anything odd-out-side?"

"Yes shouting and Chinese cries."

"Those aren't crackers I think they're shots."

Colin sat up, a bit, trying to listen through the crashing of the band.

"God! God! I believe you're right! Hello!" He spoke sharply. The faces of the audience turned, like corn-borers.

Two vividly dressed Burmese had burst through the back of the tent. They stood, shouting. One was waving the curved of his dah. The steel flashed red.

"To the rear!" instant, the show was "to go!" The actors stood silent, the stage behind them, that hundreds of the audience were following their lead.

"Out through here! Keep close together. Turn right for the car!" shouted Peter. But it was impossible to reach the car. It resembled an island, in the flood of the crowd from the Pwé. They stood aside, wondering, and let the throng from behind rush past them, running, jabbering. There was a fire up the street. It threw the ornate roof of a temple into silhouette, and the halting heads of the men and women turning towards its blaze. A small pagoda reflected its light, red gold against the sky. There was firing, and shouting. Hugh above everything else, they heard a terrible scream. It rose and rose, then was abruptly silenced. Petronella saw Jean slump forward and caught her.

"She's fainted!"

"We'll carry her." She felt sick herself.

"We must get the girls out of this—come on, this way."

Peter and Hugh carried Jean between them. She came round, staggered to the ground and ran with them, down two streets.

Pedestrians were hurrying in the opposite direction, or reinforcing and the shutters of their houses and shops. There was a taxi standing abandoned beside the curb.

"In you get," ordered Peter. After crashing the strange gears, he drove them towards Betty's home.

"Now to your place, Jean," promised Peter, and swung the old vehicle into the Promenade Road. Across it, barring the way, walked a line of young Indians, wearing white ghadi hats.

They would not move aside. Peter hooted and drove straight for them. One man faltered, leaving a gap. He took it. As he passed, he leaned out and delivered a resounding slap on his cheek.

"Peter, you'll be murdered some day," muttered Jean admiringly.

Anxious parents, and a disturbed bridge party, welcomed Jean thankfully. "What is happening?" We heard there was rioting. We've been getting so anxious."

"Those damn Cooringhis and Burmans at each other again," Hugh told them. "We cleared out of it in that old bus, with the girls. Some ghadi caps tried to stop us. You should have heard the boy Peter landed one of them on the ear."

"I'm glad I didn't," Mrs. Grant put an arm around her white-faced daughter.

Crowded Inns Gave Us Purposes

There's an odd little story behind that purse we dip into so frequently. It is linked up with the origin of the word Bourse, generally applied to foreign stock exchanges. In the Fourteenth century, says Pearson's London Weekly, the Venetians used to venture up from the Mediterranean in their stout little ships to take cargoes of spices to Bruges. Quarters were pretty crowded in the inns, so for the transaction of their business they established their headquarters in the house of a rich Dutchman named Van den Purse. It was after extensive British transactions with this Dutchman that we dropped the good old English word "money-bag" and adopted "purse."

HEM AND AMY

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Only three years ago a young blond chap and a cocky little fellow in a high silk hat were making the rounds in Hollywood. "Time on our hands" might have been their theme song, except that they were too busy looking for work to get in any singing.

The blond chap (aw, his name's Edgar Bergen) tried to get a job acting, either with or without the little fellow (and his name's Charlie McCarthy). He tried to tell Hollywood he'd make a good dialogue writer. But Hollywood was bored. Edgar and Charlie went back to Chicago, where they knew they could have regular meals, anyway.

What has happened since then you all know, and it all adds up to the fact that "time on my hands" is likely to be a missing element in the pair's life for a good spell to come.

Funny, how these things work out. Success in pictures, fame on the air. They bring a fine home, maybe a swimming pool—and precious little time to enjoy either.

Not that Messrs. Bergen and McCarthy are complaining, but—

"I work five times as hard as I did before Hollywood recognized our existence," says Bergen. "Before, I used to spend a great deal of my time looking for work. Now work comes looking for me."

AT PRESENT Bergen and McCarthy are spending about 9 hours daily at Univisual, helping W. C. Fields prove that "You Can't Cheat an Honest Man." Then there's their weekly air show, not missed once in nearly three years, and requiring two new comedy routines a week. Bergen works those up at night after movie work.

There are 25 McCarthy novelties on the market, each representing a "deal" which had to be investigated and closed like many others which have been rejected. And then—benefits.

AS a double-talk artist, Bergen is the town's busiest actor. He must speak his own lines, do his own acting, speak and act for Charlie at the same time.

It's uncanny, the way he gives that little fellow personality, and yet retains his own. At Bergen's house, I understand, the servants speak of the woodpecker as first as solicitously and admiringly as they do of the master—and are as proud of Charlie's wardrobe.

Hubby—Yes, dear. We were made fools so the girls wouldn't all be old maids.

Eaters Roosevelt likes eggs

Sometimes he gets chicken

By The L.P. Feature Service

From a White House menu that runs the gourmet's gamut from crab soup to pecan pie, President Roosevelt picks as his favorite food a simple fare that can be cooked in a chafing dish—Scrambled eggs.

It's this simple: Take six eggs, one tablespoon of butter, three tablespoons of milk, cream, or water. Melt butter. Beat the eggs until the whites and yolks are blended.

Then add liquid and pour into hot pan; stir until the eggs reach the desired consistency.

Other presidential favorites are wild duck, artichokes, and braised sweetbreads.

Stratification Process

Of Maturing Some Seeds

Seeds of many plants require from six months to two years in order to germinate. Most of the alpine, primroses, wildflowers, stone fruits and trees and shrubs in the wild state drop their seeds into the soil during the summer or late fall. There they lie all winter undergoing freezing and thawing, an experience that bursts the outer coverings and prepares the inmost vital germ to start into life. This process is known as stratification, writes Ruth Mosher Place in the Detroit News.

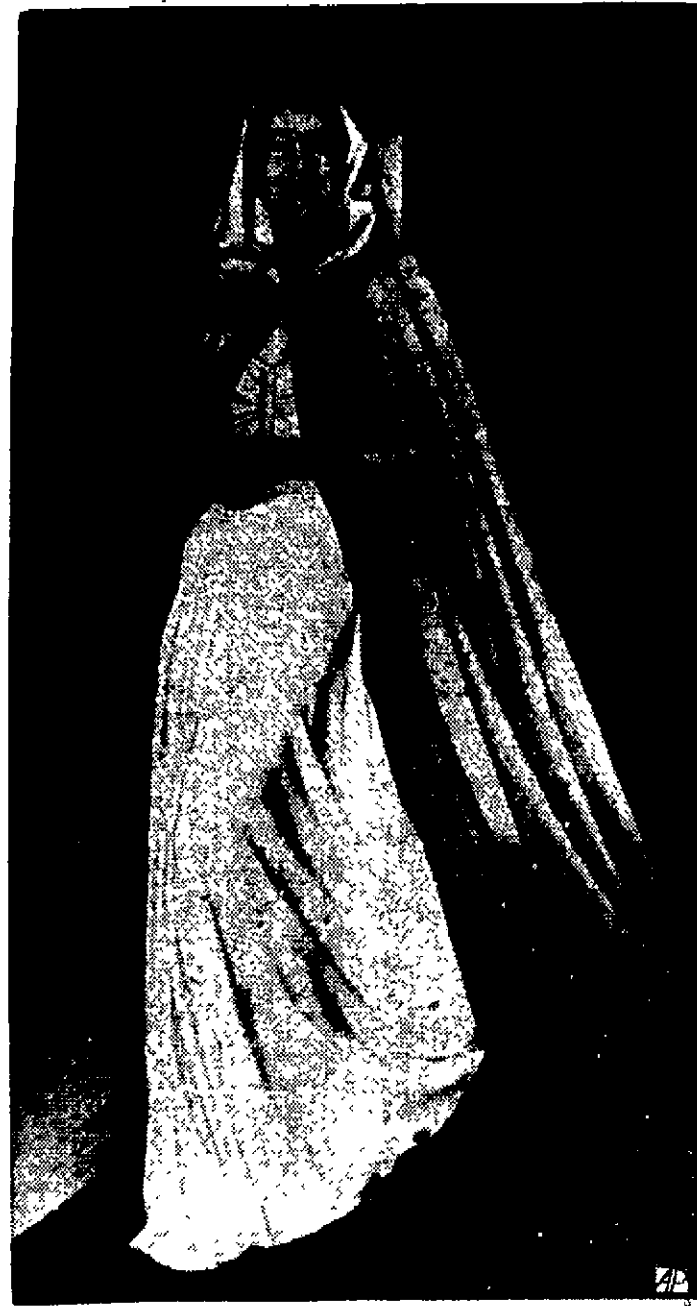

The word is used loosely to describe any method of burying seeds indoors or out by which they are subjected to low temperatures and allowed to remain in darkness and moisture until they have reached the proper stage of maturity. Whether the actual freezing of the seeds completes this process is not definitely known. Freezing seems necessary to the germination of many alpine and for many species of woody plants and apparently is a part of the process under natural conditions.

According to the old method of stratifying seeds, they were buried in layers of sawdust. Nursery practice consists in planting slow germinating seeds in boxes of pure sand, which are put six inches deep in the ground. Sometimes wire cages are put around the seeds to prevent damage from rodents. Large seeds, such as peach stones, are often planted directly in the ground. Very fine, choice specimens may be kept in small flats under cover.

Good grades of granite, marble, limestone, and sandstone are quarried in Canada.

There's a hint of Arabian romance in this full, hooded evening cape of paprika wool lined in white. Its fullness swept back in graceful folds when it was shown recently over a gown of white draped jersey at a fashion show of cruise and resort clothes at the New York Ritz.

Meetings Planned For Home Bureau

The annual January meeting for chairmen of all units of the Ulster County Home Bureau will be held at the Home Bureau office on Friday, January 27, at 10:30 a. m., it was announced today. Plans for steps in program planning will be completed.

Mrs. Helen Hoefler, assistant state leader of the Extension Service, will attend the meeting.

The monthly executive committee meeting scheduled for January 26 has been postponed until Saturday, January 28. Election of officers will take place in addition to the regular business of the day.

Mrs. DeWitt Crowell, who attended the annual convention in New Orleans of the Associated Women of the American Farm Bureau Association will give a summary of the meetings at a luncheon Saturday noon.

Canada's gold production in November last amounted to 410,023 ounces in comparison with 411,263 ounces in the previous month and 353,281 ounces in November, 1937.

Legion Auxiliary Officers Report

Regular meeting of American Legion Auxiliary, No. 150, was held January 20, with the president, Mrs. Hart, presiding. The treasurer's report showed a substantial balance and over $60 was cleared on the recent card party.

The welfare and rehabilitation chairman reported over $95 work done during the Christmas holidays. This included baskets of food, clothing and other articles to needy veterans' families, and cookies, cigarettes to veterans at the Castle Point Hospital.

The membership chairman, Mrs. Roche reported 108 members, 16 of which are new ones. She stressed the point that the date of delinquency has been changed from April 1 to January 31, 1939, and asked that all members of last year who have not paid by do so by January 31.

A report by the community service chairman showed 306 have served on the mayor's Christmas cheer committee. A donation of $10 was given the committee and one of $5 to the "March of Dimes Fund."

Mrs. Hillis reported on the Junior Auxiliary, stating there were 11 paid-up members and 13 attending meetings, at which time the girls are making scrap books for the children's wards in the hospitals. A social evening was held at Mrs. Hillis' home, 13 girls attending, and games were played, followed by refreshments. All members and friends are asked to bring a 10 cent article at the next meeting to be sent to Summit Hospital. American Legion Day at the World's Fair will be Feb. 24, 1939, and the national president will be guest of honor at that time. Kingston Post and Auxiliary will be the hosts for the next county meeting February 28.

Lease Is Given By Mrs. Newcombe

An important business deal has been consummated through which the Wiltwyck Holding & Trading Co., owned by Mrs. Austin R. Newcombe, has leased for a long term of years, to the Gulf Oil Co., bulk storage plants at Kingston point and at Newburgh; also eight price stations in Ulster, Greene and Delaware counties.

The lease becomes effective March 1.

The transaction is said to approach in importance that in which, in 1930, the A. R. Newcombe Oil Co. sold to the Cities Service Corp. business interests in one half a dozen counties, a deal which it was stated involved a million dollars or more.

It is understood that the Austin Newcombe Oil Co., dealer in petroleum products and of which Raymond R. Carraghan is the manager, will continue the business of handling heating oils.

Schrick Orders Alimony Payment

Florence Van Eiten has been granted alimony of $18 a week pending of an action for judgment of marriage from Arthur Van Eiten and will also receive $175 for counsel fees. A. J. Schrick appeared for the plaintiff, Joseph M. Campbell appeared for the defendant. The order has been granted by Justice Harry E. Schrick.

The action for separation was brought and heard by the court on an order of November 4, 1938. The defendant was cited on January 28, in an order to show cause returnable on January 8, 1939, should not be punished for contempt of court for disobeying order of the court made in number which directed payment of alimony and counsel fees. A cross motion was made by defendant for modification of the order and to relieve him from the payments. This motion was granted and he was allowed to amend his answer setting forth grounds of abandonment. The motion has been denied by Justice Schrick who directs the defendant pay the $18 alimony, $175 counsel fees and arrears amounting to $1,816.60, and is for a portion of the defendant's wages in Ulster county.

Corey Speaks at Forum Meeting

When the railroads came into existence they created a vast industry. The same thing applied to electric power, and more recently to the automobile industry and the radio.

With the creation of new industrial enterprises the profits made in other lines were re-invested in these new industries. The people employed in the capital goods industry were the ones who produced the measure of production and the wages they earned were spent for clothing, housing, etc. A man employed in a locomotive shop did not buy a locomotive; he spent his wages for other things.

The breakdown in the past ten years, he argued was due to the fact that there had been no new fields of industry opened up in which profits made in other lines could be invested.

Capital had increased faster than production was consumed and there was an over production of capital while the purchasing power of the people had not kept pace.

Mr. Corey said that profits were higher in 1937 than they were in 1929, but we were only using about 45 per cent of our economic resources. The only way to restore economic recovery he claimed was to use all of our resources 100 per cent.

Profits, he said, must move down, and wages must move up. Profits were of no value unless there were capital industry in which they could be invested.

The real important thing is to keep industry working.

Mr. Corey said that our economic condition has reached such a state of development that it was no longer profitable to operate our resources 100 per cent. He said that by 1939 this country had definitely reached a point where opportunities for capitalist investment had ceased.

At the close of his address Mr. Corey answered several questions from those in the audience.

Grant of Patents Began With Greeks Years Ago

The grant of patents for inventions began long before the Christian era, Frank E. Barrows of New York says in a symposium of the American Patent Practice and Procedure.

"The earliest patent system of which we have authentic record was in the Greek province of Sybaris and related to inventions of new foods," it is pointed out. "Sybaris was destroyed in 510 B. C. and with it the record of its experience with a patent system, but the Greek historian Phylarchus, writing in the Third century B. C., tells us about the provisions of the system. It provided that any cook or caterer who invented an unusual and peculiar dish was entitled to a monopoly of this new invention for a period of one year."

Only the Inventor was Entitled to the Profit to be derived from its manufacture during this period, and the purpose was not only to protect and reward the inventor but to encourage others to labor at excellence in that field. Thus we have in the Sybaris patent law of 25 centuries ago the fundamentals of our modern patent systems.

"For practical purposes the earliest of our modern systems is that of Great Britain, established by the English Statute of Monopolies in 1623, more than three centuries ago. Our own patent system is next in point of time. It was established in 1790, shortly after the adoption of the Federal Constitution.

"Even before that time patents had been granted by some of the American colonies. The adoption of patent systems has spread and practically all nations have patent systems."

Strange Tropical Plant

May Grow 60 Feet High

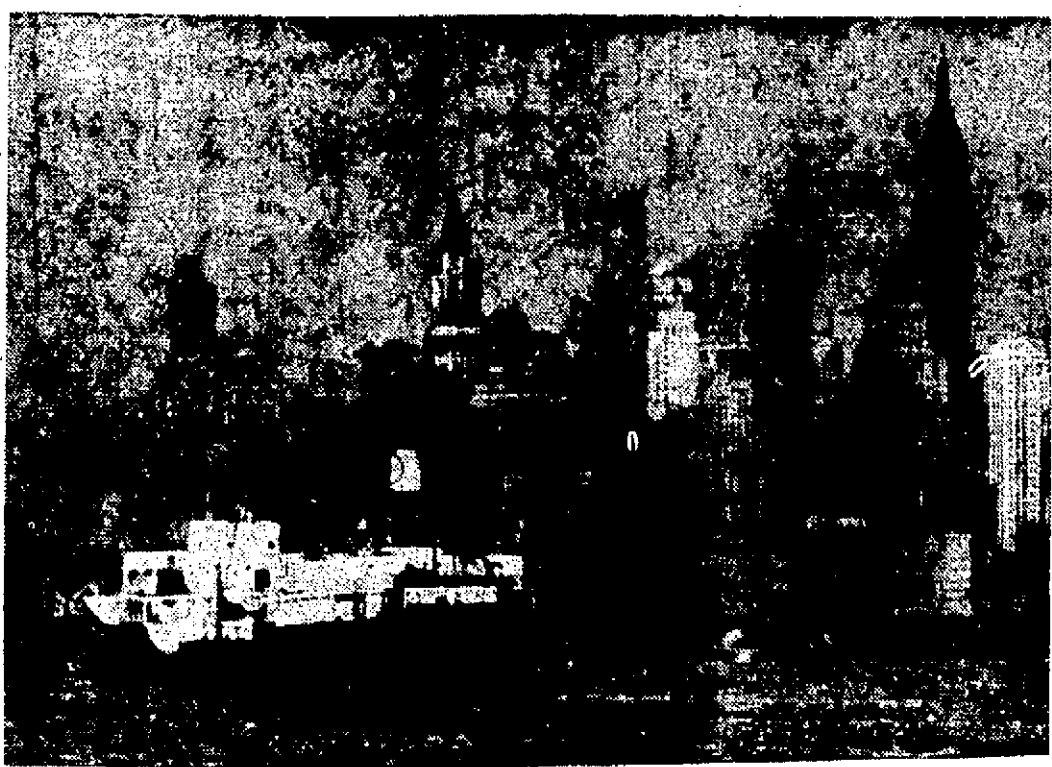

A strange tropical plant sometimes attaining tree size in Florida is the screw pine, which in its native Madagascar may reach 60 feet in height, writes Hugo H. Schroeder in Nature magazine. The base of the plant is held up on stilt-like aerial roots that grow in a cluster. The long sword-shaped leaves grow up to three feet in length; they are grouped in a spiral twist, quite different from the average leaf arrangement.

This plant, as well as other forms of the species, is extensively grown as a pot plant for home decoration, and conservatories, able to take care of good-sized plants under glass, show various species to good advantage. Some varieties have striped or variegated leaves, while others are unmarked.

It is called screw pine because of two distinct characteristics: The spiral twist of the leaves is responsible for the first half of the name, while "pine" was adopted because of the resemblance of the fruit to a rounded pine cone. These fruits grow to a diameter of six inches or more.

In its native regions the plant is useful for various purposes. The fruits are eaten for food, the fiber of the roots and leaves is used for making hats, ropes, baskets, bags and matting, and paper is made from the leaves.

CAVALIER SURVIVORS COME HOME ON TANKER

The sea-luffeted Standard Oil Co. tanker, Esso Baytown, comes up Hudson river against the New York skyline to a hero's welcome bearing 10 survivors taken from a life-preserver "raft" of the ill-fated Imperial Airways flying boat, Cavalier. Rescued after hours in the waters of the Atlantic more than 300 miles off the coast, the survivors were subjected to more discomfort as the tiny rescue vessel fought through heavy seas. Three of those aboard the Cavalier were missing.

SONG GUIDED THEM TO CAVALIER SURVIVORS

The singing of survivors of the ill-fated Cavalier guided these men in a lifeboat from the tanker Esso Baytown to the spot in the gulf stream where passengers and crewmen of the flying boat were keeping themselves up with life preservers. The lifeboat crew is shown on the tanker's arrival in New York. The rescuers were "without stars, moon or sextant," Stanley Taylor (left) related. L. to R. are: Taylor and John T. Goodwin, both of Boston, Mass.; Thomas J. Brady of Whitehaven, Pa.; John Thomaschek of Blackwood, N. J.; Howell Smith of Mobile, Ala., and Joseph Minor of Norfolk, Va.

IT'S HOME AGAIN FOR THE RESCUED

Glad to set foot on land again rescued passengers and crewmen from the ill-fated Cavalier, British flying boat, which plunged into the sea, leave their rescue ship, the tanker Esso Baytown, at a New York city pier. Shriek blasts of boat whistles and circling airplanes greeted the rescue ship as it came up the Hudson river.

SURVIVED CAVALIER TRAGEDY

Leaving the rescue tanker, Esso Baytown, at a New York city pier are several passengers who were saved from the sea after the British flying boat, Cavalier, crashed into the water. The survivors went to their homes and hospitals. Five women were among the 10 passengers saved by the tanker. Eight of the survivors clung to four life preservers. The woman shown being assisted down gang-plank is Mrs. George Ingham of Radnor, Pa., and Bermuda.

Oil Tanker Bearing 10 Persons From Ill-Fated Flying Boat Is Given Noisy Welcome in New York

Court of Inquiry

British Will Hold Court at Bermuda; Lifeboat Crew Tells of Hearing Songs

New York, Jan. 24 (AP).—Why the luxurious British airliner Cavalier crashed at sea with the loss of three lives remained a mystery today as 10 survivors described how they sang and shouted to keep their courage alive until their epic rescue.

They told of an 11-hour ordeal of clinging to life belts in the Atlantic wastes—a chronicle of gallantry with both comic and tragic overtones—after receiving a hero's welcome on their arrival late yesterday.

The ice-encrusted tanker Esso Baytown, which snatched them from the sea Saturday night after the world had said all but given them up for dead, was surrounded by whistling tugs as it plowed up the choppy channel.

Airplanes dipped in salute in the frosty sky, and a crowd of 2,000 cheering persons waited at the pier.

Of the five men and five women survivors only the widows of two of the victims—Mrs. Donald Miller of Lincoln, Neb., and Mrs. John Gordon Noakes of New York—showed evidence of strain. Mrs. Noakes fainted. She was taken to a private hospital, weeping. The others refused medical treatment.

No Stars, Moon or Sextant

The survivors' jubilation on their arrival was reflected in the faces of the members of the Baytown's crew who rowed a lifeboat to their aid after they heard cries in the night.

"We were without stars, moon or sextant—in complete darkness," said Stanley Taylor, a seaman who stood in the lifeboat's bow.

"And then the whole crowd of them started singing. We listened and the sound guided us to the spot."

First Mate Olaf Andersen

said: "I heard a woman's voice say 'Thank God' as we came up to them. Then they started to sing again. I was too busy to notice what it was they were singing. Something religious. I don't know the name."

None of the fortunate 10 could recall what they sang.

Pretty Mrs. George Ingham of Hamilton, Bermuda, said the survivors had agreed to hold a reunion Saturday on the liner Monarch of Bermuda which will carry them to Bermuda, their destination when the accident occurred.

Richardson's Dental

Reports that icing conditions caused as the huge 19-ton plane flew through squalls were responsible for its four motors quitting were denied by First Officer Neil Richardson.

"The Cavalier had carburetor-heating devices," he declared. "It's a complete mystery to us all how it happened."

Richardson added it was not particularly unusual for all four motors to fail almost simultaneously for brief periods in flight but "you get out of it by working the throttle."

A board of inquiry will be convened at Hamilton to investigate the disaster—first of its kind in the North Atlantic—Capt. Griffith Powell, trans-oceanic flier and executive of British Imperial Airways, announced.

Although the disaster involved a foreign-operated plane, the Civil Aeronautics Authority at Washington disclosed it had decided to ask the British Air Ministry to permit an official American observer to be present at its investigation.

Capt. M. R. Alderson, the slim little pilot who was dazed by the crash—300 miles southeast of Cape May, N. J.—said the plane's fuselage was ripped open by the impact and sank within 10 minutes.

"Making a deadstick landing," he explained, "we hit the water so hard the hull of the ship split and the water rushed in. It came in with such force I was washed toward the hold."

Bearing a face cut and still pale, he declined to comment on why the motors went dead.

Not in Honolulu

San Francisco, Jan. 24 (AP).—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled you can't dump garbage on a harbor patrolman's head and get away with it—not around Honolulu anyway.

The court yesterday affirmed a decision of the Hawaii District Court, which fined the Dollar Steamship Company $500 for discharging refuse in Honolulu Harbor.

"Glad I'm Alive"

"If you are feeling good and 'peppy,' That's what 'Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery' did for me. It gave me a better appetite, increased the flow of gastric juice and thus improved my digestion. It's a tonic that helps build you up—makes you feel peppy."

The Discovery relieves stomach upsets due to excess acidity and you feel better in many ways. So why not try it now? Your druggist has it in both fluid and tablets.

DIRECTED RESCUE

Capt. Frank Spurr (above), Westfield, N. J., skipper of the rescue tanker Esso Baytown which picked up 10 survivors of the Cavalier, is shown on the bridge as he brought his ship into the pier at New York city for the rescued to be taken off.

Men's Club Shown Pictures By High School Principal

Principal Clarence L. Dumm of the High School showed several rolls of interesting films at the meeting of the Men's Club of St. James Church Monday night. Of special interest were the films showing the construction and action of the heart and the process of blood circulation through the heart and body, and the film showing the development of tuberculosis infection in the lungs, instances of how the germs may be transmitted unknowingly and methods of treatment and cure of tuberculosis. Following the pictures oyster stew was served and the evening closed with a game of dartsball.

KELLY'S CORNER • By JOE KELLY

Kramer Gets 'em in Philly—
Teddy Leskie in Gloves

The date for the National Sportsmen's Show in the Grand Central Palace, New York city, is February 18 to 26 inclusive. It was erroneously announced for March in previous press releases from the association. That's why Leskie, who entered in the Golden Gloves for Friday night at the auditorium. He's working out at Johnny Manfro's gym with Frank Armstrong, Frankie Alright, Charlie Ralings and others. Kid Chappie is in charge of the workouts. From all reports, there should be a lot of action at the Broadway palace for the Sphas Sparks. Whenever Bernie Fliegel, Pete Peterson or Sam Kaplan are in of feminine companionship they always rely on Ben Kramer to come through with flying colors. Wilkes-Barre fans are wild about Moe Duffler, the boy who took in trade for Jimmy Brown. The Kingston Rifle and Pistol Club has it in for that Coxsackie Club which won at the auditorium range this week. Congratulations are in order for Mr. and Mrs. Max Kinsbrunner. They are the proud parents of a nine-pound son born at the Israel Zion Hospital, Brooklyn. This makes the second heir

Interfraternal Games Tonight

The Interfraternal Tournament League will meet tonight at the Knights of Columbus building. Four pocket billiard games and eight shuffleboard matches will be played.

The first pool game of the evening will bring together Mike Brown, southpaw cue ace of the Knights and Freddie Planthaber of city tournament fame for the Elks. The second match is Dave Schick of the Vets and Johnny Kaccarato of the Elks. The third contest on the schedule brings together Bill Brophy of the Knights and Bill Swart of the Mechanics. Oscar Newkirk of the Mechanics and George Planthaber of the Vets will play the final game.

Besides the four pocket billiard games, eight shuffleboard games will be played. The Elks and Knights are tied for first place in the shuffleboard division and each team is expected to send the best players in the game in an attempt to capture undisputed leadership in the shuffleboard league.

The games this evening will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock and will be followed by refreshments.

Kingston Rifle Team Defeated

The Coxsackie Rifle team were guests of the Kingston Rifle and Pistol Club recently at the local range in one of their scheduled matches of the Eastern New York State Rifle League. Coxsackie won.

The match was run off on scheduled time under supervision of the clubs newly appointed range officer Al Hoyt.

After the match refreshments were served and a good time enjoyed by all. The club plans to hold a match with the Schick Rifle Club the latter part of this week. All members are urged to be present with their "shooting irons."

These matches are run as a 10-man team, high five to count for score.

Mohican Market Makes Changes

Manager Emilo Trowbridge of the Mohican Market, John street, has made a number of improvements in the market to give additional space and for greater convenience of customers, he announced today.

The old cashier system which has been in vogue for many years has been abandoned and in place of a central cashier booth where all bills are paid each department has been equipped with cash registers and customers now may pay for merchandise at the department where purchased. The abandonment of the old bill and cashier system has abolished the need for cashier's cages and that additional space is now devoted to display of merchandise.

Tanker Explosion Followed by Fire

An explosion in the pump room aboard a Shell tanker tied up at Milton dock discharging a cargo of gasoline Monday at about 12:30 o'clock attracted considerable crowds to the dock but the fire which followed was extinguished with slight damage.

There were two tankers tied up at Milton dock at the time. Both were Shell ships. While pumping gasoline from the tanker to storage tanks there was an explosion in the pump room aboard one of the tankers when it is said the pumping apparatus became overheated. The cargo of the ship had been practically delivered at the time. A stream from the other boat was turned on the flames which were quickly extinguished. The Milton fire department responded to a call. The dock was set ablaze by the explosion but damage was slight.

Legislative Probe Of New York Relief Financing Asked

State Senate Finance Group Considers Proposal to Study 'Relief - Cost' Question; Other Developments

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP).—Demands for a legislative investigation of relief financing in New York were pressed today as efforts were made to place President Roosevelt's home state behind his fight on a pending $150,000,000 cut in the federal WPA appropriation.

The state senate finance committee took under consideration a proposal, previously introduced, for a study of the whole "relief cost" question after three Democratic-sponsored resolutions speaking the legislature's opposition to a slash of the President's recommendation for $375,000,000 were submitted to lawmakers.

The resolutions, one of which drew a Republican retort that New York would be "better off, if the federal government did not appropriate one cent," were introduced amid these other developments.

Denunciation by the state power authority of a state chamber of commerce resolution urging its abolition as the work of a "mouthpiece" of private power interests.

Unanimous recommendation by the senate finance committee that Governor Lehman's reappointment of Dr. Edward S. Godfrey, Jr., state health commissioner, and William R. White, state superintendent of banking, be confirmed by the senate.

Endorsement by the legislative committee of the state conference of mayors of a pending bill to effectuate a new constitutional amendment by broadening self-governing powers of cities and prohibiting mandatory state laws affecting cities without local consent.

Revival of the long-standing proposal, backed by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, that New York city be permitted to set up a $50,000,000 municipal "yardstick" power plant.

Republican Senator Thomas C. Desmond, Newburgh, author of the proposal for a legislative investigation of relief financing, asserted that "this question of reducing the WPA appropriation makes the need of such a study immediately more imperative than ever."

"I have suggested to the committee (senate relief) that the way be cleared for a series of public hearings at the earliest possible moment," he added.

Brief but sharp assembly debate greeted the resolution of Democratic Minority Leader Irwin Steingut urging memorialization of congress against reduction of WPA funds and his appeal for unanimous consent to have it considered immediately. It was sent, however, to the rules committee.

Conway Presents Sewage Measure

The state health department's report, discussing the pollution of the Hudson river, declared that as many as 3,000 persons bathe daily each summer in central sections of the Hudson river "where the waters are polluted by the discharge of sewage."

The state health department's report, discussing the pollution of the Hudson river, declared that as many as 3,000 persons bathe daily each summer in central sections of the Hudson river "where the waters are polluted by the discharge of sewage."

The Marathon Races

On the plains of Marathon, about 20 miles northeast of Athens, in ancient Greece, the Athenian general, defeated the Persians in 490 B. C. The Persian forces were led by Darius, a gallant commander. For a time the Athenians were hard pressed and greatly needed reinforcements to drive out the invading army. Phidippides, a courier or runner, was dispatched to Sparta to solicit aid against the enemy. He accomplished a notable "cross-country run," arriving in Sparta on the second day after leaving Athens. Help was secured and the Athenians were victorious. The name "marathon race" has been given to long-distance runs in athletic meets of modern times, thus perpetuating the feat of Phidippides, the messenger of long ago.

Farmers First Meat Packers

The first meat packers in the United States were farmers, according to a correspondent in the Wisconsin Agriculturist. More than 300 years ago these farmer packers began to salt down pork, beef, venison and bear meat. It wasn't long before the New Englanders began to take a share of the English trade in meats with the West Indies. Later, thousands of meat animals were driven in on foot to Boston, New York, Baltimore and other sea port towns, from the outlying farms and from adjoining colonies or states.

Entering Strange Caves

None but the bravest people care to enter strange caves. They may get hopelessly lost, drop into a pit, slide over a dangerous precipice, or drown in a rushing, hidden river. Land caves usually open in limestone, a porous rock, notes a writer in the Washington Post. Rain trickles into cracks, "eats" away part of the lime, and eventually carves out huge underground holes. Tiny raindrops made Kentucky's famed Mammoth cave this way. It "prowls" 8,000 square miles under the earth's surface.

JIMMY HINES GOES ON TRIAL AGAIN

Tammany leader James J. Hines (right) and his attorney, Lloyd Paul Stryker, snapped as they arrived at court in New York city for Hines' second trial on charges of conspiracy in connection with a $20,000,000-a-year Harlem lottery. Hines' first trial was declared a mistrial by Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora, who held District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey had prejudiced jurors by improper cross-examination.

for Wednesday. Harris Kass's case was moved to Monday. Marie Irene LeValley Smith, who went herself to release from custody last week, failed to put in an appearance. Charged with bigamy Marie appeared in court last week and when the court announced she would have to be taken in custody of the sheriff or put up bail, she began to weep and told of children who were in need of her at home. She was paroled in custody of the newly assigned counsel, John W. DeWitt, and told to appear in court this week. Mr. DeWitt said she had promised to come in and perhaps she believed her case set down for Wednesday and he asked for time to produce her. He was given until Wednesday to get her to court.

Court recessed until 10 o'clock Wednesday.

Renominations Confirmed

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 21 (AP).—New York's Senate unanimously confirmed today three more of Governor Lehman's renominations after brief "interviews" by the finance committee of the smaller house. The approved renominations included State Banking Superintendent William R. White, Dr. William J. Tiffany, mental hygiene commissioner, and Dr. Edward S. Godfrey, Jr., state health commissioner. Previously the Senate also unanimously confirmed the executive's reappointment of State Correction Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney and nomination of Michael J. Walsh as secretary of state to succeed Edward J. Flynn, resigned.

Opens Senate Debate

Washington, Jan. 21 (AP).—Senator Adams (D-Col.) opened Senate debate on the $725,000,000 relief bill today with an assertion that misstatements and propaganda had been circulated in an effort to increase the allotment. Adams, the bill's floor manager, said there "has been much misstatement of the situation—some innocent and some not innocent."

"There has been very extensive propaganda," he added, "and the issue has been misstated to the people of the United States."

President Roosevelt asked for $875,000,000 to operate WPA until June 30, but the House and the Senate appropriations committee countered with $725,000,000.

33 Boys to Vie For Apple Honors

Thirty-three boys who are learning modern methods of packing and marketing apples, will compete for a trophy and other premiums when the New York State Horticultural Society conducts its eastern meeting at the New York State Armory, this city, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The youthful apple marketers are members of the 4-H Clubs. They have been trained by Spencer C. Duncan, in charge of the farm products inspection service of the Department of Agriculture and Markets. The boys studied application of the State's apple grading law, New York State apple grades and packing under commercial conditions.

The 33 boys who completed the training course each will display a half-bushel of apples at the Kingston meeting. State inspectors will check the grades ascribed by each of the boy packers. That result will be averaged with the boys' marks on their written examination on grading and marketing to determine the trophy winner. The boys are from Orange, Ulster, Greene, Dutchess and Columbia counties.

About 80 packages of apples put up by commercial growers in the Hudson Valley have been selected at random from storage warehouses by Department inspectors. These packages also will be graded. Those conforming with the grades stamped on the outside of the closed containers will win places for their packers on the honor roll which the Department will compile in connection with the horticultural show in Kingston's state armory.

Drive Renewed

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP).—The drive to establish constitutionally the state's ownership of water resources, was renewed in the legislature today simultaneously with a state power authority attack on the state chamber of commerce as the "mouthpiece" of private power interests.

Democratic Senator Jacob J. Schwartz, Brooklyn, introduced an amendment to the constitution to specify that any development of power sites on the St. Lawrence and Niagara rivers "shall always remain the property and under management of the state."

Meat loaf mixture, when molded into a loaf on heavy greased paper, then slipped onto a rack in an open roasting pan and cooked in a moderate oven, is entirely covered with a brown crust.
